750,000 PERSONS SEE FAVORITE WIN ENGLISH DERBY; KING PRESENT

Royal Family Among Great Throng of Stylishly-Gowned Women and Formally-Attired Men—Winner Pays 7 to 2.

By the Associated Press.

EPSOM DOWNS, England, June 3.—J. A. Dewar's Cameronian, the favorite, today won the 148th renewal of the English Derby.

Sir John Rutherford's Orpen finished second in front of Lord Rosebery's Sandwich, with Marcel Boussac's Goyescas fourth.

A crowd of 750,000, including King George and the royal family, saw the son of Pharos Una-Cameron gallop home in front of 25 other 3-year-olds.

The sun broke through the clouds at noon to cheer the thousands gathered for the race.

Cameronian was nearly mobbed when he was taken out for morning exercise a few hours before the race.

For miles all roads were glutted with traffic and progress toward the track was a slow motion picture.

Half Million People Present.

By 1 o'clock it was estimated that already a half-million people were on the scene, with long lines of all types of conveyances and snake-like lines of pedestrians still making their way over the beautiful rolling downs country.

Shining limousines were drawing up to the grand stand constantly, disgorging loads of beautifully attired women folk, the men wearing the most formal of day attire.

Shortly after 1 o'clock the King and Queen, the Prince of Wales and other members of the royal family drove to the royal entrance through more than a mile of cheering people, some of whom tried to jump on the running boards of the royal cars.

The King wore a silk hat, with a white carnation in the lapel of his frock coat. Queen Mary wore a toque of powder blue, with a coat of light gray.

Cameronian won by three-quarters of a length with a like distance separating Orpen and Sandwich.

Cameronian went to the post the 7 to 2 favorite, while Orpen was held at 9 to 1 and Sandwich at 8 to 1.

Two American horses, Marshall Field's Jacopo and William Woodward's Sir Andrew, were in the race. Jacopo finished seventh.

Race Worth $60,000.

The race was worth about $60,000 to the winner while $20,000,000 were distributed through the Irish Sweepstakes and smaller sweeps. This year's 148th renewal of the turf's oldest race was generally said to be the biggest "money race" of English racing history.

Cameronian was the first favorite to win in recent years. The colt was installed the choice soon after his victory in the Two Thousand Guineas and up to post time was a good thing at 4 to 1.

Cameronian was clocked in the good time of 2:36 3-5 for the gruelling mile and one-half up and down hill journey. With Freddy Fox in the pilot seat, the DeWar colt kept close to the pace throughout the journey and once he started running in the stretch, he was not to be beaten.

The large field got away good, with Jockey Taylor taking Callini out in front. Close behind, however, followed Cameronian bunched with Grindleton, Lemonition, Estate Duty and Reveillon. At the half-way mark Gallini was still out in front, but Fox had a tight hold on Cameronian, not far off the pace in fifth place.

Rounding famous Tattenham Corner, Gallini continued to set a burning pace, but Cameronian had moved up into third place, behind Armagnac, with Orpen and Sandwich also improving their positions.

Cameronian Takes Lead.

As the field swung into the stretch, Gallini and Armagnac dropped back, with Orpen and Cameronian moving out in front. With a few quick bounds Cameronian opened up what appeared to be a safe lead, but Orpen and Sandwich challenged in the final furlong.

The runner-up and third-place horses were not equal to the task, however, as Fox set down to give the favorite a great ride. With the vast crowd cheering for the Dewar color bearer to "come on," Cameronian galloped past the judges' stand with the race well in hand.

Goyescas got up in time to take fourth place, with Gallini dropping back to fifth. Pomme D'Api, seeking the second straight Derby triumph for the Aga Khan, battled Jacopo down the stretch and just managed to get the nod for sixth place, with the American colt seventh.

Although Fox topped the list of winning jockeys last year, it was the first time he had ever ridden a Derby winner.

J. A. Dewar expressed himself as "the most delighted man in the world."

"The cheering for the gallant

WHEAT DROPS 13 1-2C WHEN FEDERAL BUYING STOPS

Stabilization Corporation Head Says Day's Results Were Better Than He Had Expected.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 3.—The last of the pegs put in the grain market by the Federal Government last fall was withdrawn today and wheat slid more than 13 cents before it found a new level for trading.

The Grain Stabilization Corporation stopped buying June wheat options, the only remaining old crop futures, and also abandoned the cash wheat tables. The result was a sudden drop of 13½ cents in June futures in Minneapolis, 12½ cents in Duluth and 5½ cents in Chicago.

Other futures, all of the new crop which has never been supported by Government sponsored agencies, also went into new low ground for the season but with smaller losses. Corn and oats felt the same pressure and eased to new levels before the whole board made slight recoveries.

George S. Milnor, head of the stabilization corporation, said the day's performance was "better than expected" and that he anticipated further rallies soon.

June wheat in Chicago closed at 66⅛, 5⅛ under yesterday's close but ⅜ above today's low price. July in Chicago closed at 56⅞@57, off 2¼@⅜; Minneapolis at 60¼, off 6; Kansas City at 50¾@⅞, off 2@2⅛. It was said the Kansas City price meant 35-cent wheat on the farms in Kansas.

DR. PIEPER, HEAD OF CONCORDIA 44 YEARS, DIES AT 78

As Doctrinal Leader of Missouri Synod, He Taught Three-Fourths of 3500 Lutheran Pastors.

BORN IN GERMANY; TO U. S. AT AGE OF 18

Succeeded to Presidency of Seminary in 1887, After Death of the Rev. Dr. Ferdinand Walther.

The Rev. Dr. Francis Pieper, president for 44 years of Concordia Seminary, and doctrinal leader of the nationwide body known as the Missouri Synod of the Lutheran Church, died at 1 a. m. today of cancer at his home on the seminary grounds. He would have been 79 years old June 27.

The funeral will be held Saturday afternoon, but the hour and the place have not been determined.

Of the 3500 pastors now in active service in the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, it is estimated that three-fourths have been pupils of Dr. Pieper, who also has trained many ministers not now living.

He was born in the Province of Pomerania, Germany, and took a classical course in Colberg Gymnasium. He came to the United States with his mother, when he was 18, and lived first in Wisconsin. He studied in Northwestern University, where he was in the graduating class of 1872, and soon afterward came to St. Louis and began his theological studies in Concordia Seminary.

Served in Wisconsin Pulpits.

After a three-year course in Concordia, the young minister served for three years in Wisconsin pastorates. In 1878 he was called back to Concordia Seminary, where he began his long career as professor of doctrinal theology.

In 1887, after the death of the Rev. Dr. Ferdinand Walther, patriarch of the Missouri Synod, Dr. Pieper succeeded to the presidency of Concordia Seminary. At that time, the seminary had been for four years in its location at 3635 South Jefferson avenue. Its graduates were then, as they are still, being sent to all parts of the United States and to various foreign countries.

In the last decade, the growth of the seminary made it necessary to seek a new location, and the present site in the De Mun tract, southwest of Forest Park, was obtained. The Seminary's present buildings were occupied five years ago, and President Pieper delivered the dedicatory address in Latin. Radio Station KFUO, connected with the seminary, was installed at the old building in 1924, and was removed with the institution.

Ill for Several Months.

From 1899 to 1911 Dr. Pieper was president of the Missouri Synod. He was editor of Lehre und Wehre, a church publication, and was author of doctrinal books in German and English.

Last January, when the nature of his illness was determined by a medical examination, he retired from active charge of the seminary, which has since been directed by Dean John H. C. Fritz The graduation exercises, today and tomorrow, will not be interrupted because of the president's death.

Dr. Pieper is survived by his widow, formerly Miss Minnie Koehn, Sheboygan, Wis., four sons, of whom three are Lutheran ministers, and six daughters, of whom five are wives of Lutheran ministers.

The sons and daughters are the Rev. Francis Pieper Jr., Cleveland, O.; the Rev. Theodore Pieper, San Francisco; the Rev. Eric Pieper, Rockville, Conn.; Arthur Pieper, Chicago; Mrs. Paula Cloeter, Lidgerwood, N. D.; Mrs. Rudolph Ressmeyer, Baltimore; Mrs. George Schmidt, Winnipeg, Man.; Mrs. L. Blankenbuehler, St. Paul; Mrs. Irene Koenig, New York, and Miss Lucy Pieper, residing with her mother.

BRUNK DEFENSE WITNESS TELLS OF $10,000 LOAN

J. K. Edlin, Chicago Bond Dealer, Says He Had Grown Fond of Official in Year's Acquaintance.

OTHER BORROWINGS BY TREASURER

Effort Made to Show Finance Commissioner Displayed Prejudice Against Defendant.

By CURTIS A. BETTS,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 3.—At the beginning of the defense in the State Treasurer Brunk impeachment case before the Senate, J. Kenneth Edlin, president of the Provident State Securities Co. of Chicago, from whom Brunk obtained $10,000, today related the circumstances under which the money was advanced.

Edlin testified that it was a loan made to the Treasurer with whom he had been acquainted about a year, and of whom he had "grown fond." It was on the day the Bank of Aurora closed that Edlin met Brunk in Kansas City and arrangements for the $10,000 were made.

"Brunk was very much disturbed," Edlin testified. "He thought that the Attorney-General and State Finance Commissioner Cantley were attempting to embarrass him by closing the bank.

Demanded Collateral.

"He told me that he had about $10,000 of secured loans in the bank, and asked me if it would be possible to raise the money to take up the loans. I told him I would lend him the money if I received the collateral on deposit in the bank.

"He telephoned to either E. R. Adams, president, or M. T. Easley, cashier, or the bank and told them that he was going to take up his loans and that the money would be there. He also told them to inform Cantley that the loans would be paid.

"He signed a note for the $10,000 at that time and was to obtain his wife's signature and mail it to me. It was agreed that I should send him a check for the $10,000 as soon as I got to Chicago the next day."

It developed in the testimony that Edlin first met Brunk in May, 1929, at the Jefferson Hotel in St. Louis. They were introduced by a bond dealer who represented Edlin's firm. There were meetings at various times after that until early in 1930, when Edlin arranged a conference with Brunk in St. Louis.

Edlin said that his company had decided to buy several country banks in Missouri to have an outlet for securities it was marketing. Brunk, he said, told him he thought a controlling interest in the Bank of Aurora could be purchased. Brunk suggested that Easley would be a good man to make up a list of banks to be bought by Edlin's company.

Edlin testified that he and Brunk went to Aurora and that negotiations were opened for the purchase of the bank, Edlin to purchase $50,000 of additional capital stock which was to be issued.

Immediately after that Edlin became ill and nothing was done toward completing the purchase. In May, Edlin said, he recovered and telephoned Brunk, who told him that "something had happened in the office" which indicated that it might not be a good purchase.

Previous Loan to Brunk.

At this point Brunk's attorney, John G. Madden, asked a question about the $10,000 advanced to Brunk. Edlin disclosed that he had made loans to Brunk before advancing the $10,000, but Madden interrupted him and the question of previous loans was not gone into at the time, Edlin being led to relating the circumstances of the $10,000 loan.

Answering a question by Madden, asked apparently for the purpose of explaining Edlin's willingness to advance the money, Edlin said: "I became very fond of Mr. Brunk because of the history of his life, starting as a miner and working up to State Treasurer."

In the beginning of his examination, Edlin related the circumstances of his employment of William H. Norwine, the salesman, who represented the company in the sale of the Pierre Chouteau apartment house bonds, and of the underwriting of the bonds by the Edlin company. The prosecution has charged a conspiracy involving Brunk, Edlin and Norwine, by which Brunk assisted Edlin and Norwine in the sale of the bonds to banks which were State deposito-

CATHOLIC YOUTH LEADERS IN ITALY ARE ARRESTED ON POLITICAL WARRANTS

POPE RIDICULES ORDER AGAINST CHURCH'S CLUBS

Tells College of Immigrants' Chaplains, "If the Devil Is Discontented, It Is Certain Sign We Are Doing Good."

STATE PRISONERS MAY BE DEPORTED

One Receives 'Admonition' Such as Usually Precedes Trip to Prison Isle—Cardinal Gasparri Continues Conciliatory Moves.

By the Associated Press.

ROME, June 3.—Several leaders of Catholic young people's organizations have been arrested on political warrants signed by the prefect. After being questioned they were held for further disposition, which may mean confinement to the penal island of Lipari.

Among those arrested was Attorney Corsanego, honorary general president of the Italian Catholic young people's organization. He received from the prefect a "political admonition" such as usually immediately precedes exile to Lipari.

Fascists Issue Statement.

The directorate of the Fascist party, headed by Premier Mussolini, tonight issued a call to all fascists to defend their achievements against anti-fascists "under whatever banner," a phrase which was interpreted as referring to the Catholic Action organization.

The directors, after a long meeting in Mussolini's office, issued a statement in which they "declared their respect for the church," its head and its leaders, but "firmly decided not to tolerate a situation under which whatever remains of anti-fascisism should find a refuge and a protection under whatever banner, new or old."

"We order," the official statement said, "the 9000 fascist groups of Italy to guide their action by these directions, remembering that those who fell for the revolution demand that it be defended at whatever cost."

Pope Ridicules Mussolini.

Pope Pius XI in a speech last night to the College of Chaplains of Immigrants ridiculed official statements made by the Fascist Government of Italy in explanation and justification of the dissoluation of Catholic Action clubs and other Catholic, non-Fascist organizations.

Premier Mussolini, the Pope said, violated the right of the church to form and guide young people and violated also the natural law "made for the good of souls," under which men form themselves into associations.

He denounced the Government's official communique, asserting that Catholic societies "not directly connected with the Nationalist-Fascist party" had been dissolved "without the slightest incident."

The phrase not "directly connected with the Nationalist Fascist party," the Pope said, did not refer to organizations directly connected with a regime or with a state," but with a party—as if a party could give that which no human regime, government or state can give."

"Irreverence and Indecencies."

As for the phrase "without the slightest incident," the Pope declared: "That expression is worth a treasure. It is enough to think of all the incidents, the irreverencies, indecencies and vandalism in Rome and in the smaller cities; in the edifices which enjoy extraterritorialty. It is enough to consider the offenses to the person of the Supreme Pontiff.

"This procedure of dissolution was not taken by legal means because the Catholic Action society is under the protection of the concordat which has become the law of the state and is supported by a bi-lateral pact.

"It was taken under orders from the police."

It is ridiculous, the Pope went on, that anyone should accuse organizations of Catholic young women of engaging in politics and equally ridiculous to lay the same charges against organizations of Joseph Kennedy, a Negro, of Roxbury, Mass., was the noly American who held a ticket on the winner. He receives one of the 19 first prizes of $150,000 each.

Thomas O'Connor of New York City and George Hill of Norway, Me., hold tickets on Orpen. They are worth $75,000 each.

Two Americans held tickets on Sandwich and will receive $50,000 each. They are S. L. Horowitz of New York City and William Coyle, Cincinnati, O.

American ticket holders won a total of $744,500. Fifty Americans automatically won $4000 each by virtue of figuring in the first day's drawing of horses. Two hundred and eighty-six consolation prizes of $500 each and 12 won $125 each.

The total subscription to the Sweepstakes was nearly $14,000,000, of which 25 per cent goes to the hospitals and roughly 7 per cent to the promoters. The prize fund totaled approximately $9,500,000.

Subscriptions came from the far corners of the world although most of them were from the United Kingdom.

The drawings of winning tickets took place from Saturday to yesterday. Five nurses dipping into the great revolving drum which contained all the tickets drew the winners.

This year there was a new system under which no one ticketholder collected the large fortunes which some have won in previous sweepstakes.

BISHOP CANNON SUES FOR $500,000 FOR LIBEL

Files Action Against Representative Tinkham Based on Newspaper Article.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Bishop James Cannon Jr. filed suit in the District of Columbia Supreme Court today against Representative Tinkham (Rep.), Massachusetts, for $500,000 for alleged libel.

Cannon based his charges upon the charges Tinkham made in connection with his 1928 anti-Smith campaign activities.

The Southern Methodist Bishop alleged that Tinkham had written and caused to be published on June 19, 1930, an article charging him with violating the Federal Corrupt Practices act.

The article, the Bishop's suit said, accused him of failing to account for $48,300 of a fund of $65,300 received from E. C. Jameson, a New York capitalist, for use in opposing the candidacy of former Gov. Smith for the presidency.

Bishop Cannon's brief said he had always complied with all laws in all activities in which he was concerned, including the 1928 election, and had only refused to subject himself to "unjust and unscrupulous" attacks.

His brief said he had been greatly injured in his good name and fame as a citizen, churchman and moral leader by the statements alleged to have been made by Tinkham in the newspaper article. He asked $250,000 compensatory and the same amount as punitive damages.

The suit apparently was based on a statement Tinkham gave newspaper men a year ago in which he repeated charges he had made on the House floor. Bishop Cannon had called him a "blustering, cowardly congressman" for making the charges under the cloak of immunity from libel proceedings which shields congressional speeches.

In his speech on the floor, Tinkham had demanded that Cannon make an accounting of the $48,300 and said that until he did he "will stand convicted in the eyes of all honest men."

HOUSE CORRECTS FALSE RECORDS ON TWO BILLS

Expunges Journal Entries Showing That They Passed Whereas They Were Defeated.

RESPONSIBILITY FOR ERROR NOT FIXED

One of Deleted Measures Has Been Signed by Governor and Its Status Is in Question.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 3. — Charges that part of the official records of the House of Representatives which show the reconsideration and final passage of two bills which had been defeated were incorrect, were sustained by the House late yesterday through adoption of a minority report of a special committee which investigated the records, recommending expunging of the records purporting to show final passage of the two bills from the House Journal. This was done, leaving only the entries recording defeat of the bills.

Adoption of the report followed charges on the floor of the Honse by Representative T. J. Roney of Jasper County, that neither bill had been legally passed by the House. Roney charged the roll calls entered in the journal as having been cast for final passage of the bills, following journal entries of a reconsideration of the vote by which the bills previously had been defeated, were "false roll calls."

The action of the House in striking from its journal a record of passage of a bill, on the ground of irregularities, is said to be without precedent in the history of the Missouri House.

Responsibility Not Fixed.

The minority report adopted by the House, which was made by Representatives Jerome M. Joffee of Kansas City, chairman of the committee, and R. Earle Hodges of Callaway County, did not fix responsibility for entries in the journal, which were attached. The report stated the evidence obtained by the committee that the House never had passed the bills, justified expunging the record showing passage of the measures.

One of the measures, Senate bill 186, by Senator Harlan of Gainesville, which would have required all motor vehicles driven over Missouri highways to be equipped with a patent device to contain the owner's certificate of ownership, was vetoed by Gov. Caulfield last May 21, after he received numerous protests against it. The bill would have required payment of an annual fee of 50 cents to the Secretary of State's department for the device. The fee, it is estimated, would have exceeded $380,000 annually.

The other bill, Senate bill No. 427, by Senator Nolte of St. Louis, recently was signed by the Governor. It provides exemption from taxation on personal property for stock insurance companies organized in Missouri, and substitutes in lieu of such taxes an annual tax of 2 per cent on premium collections. It was estimated the bill would save such companies in excess of $100,000 a year in taxes.

The insurance tax bill, while signed by the Governor, would not have become effective until 90 days after final adjournment of the Legislature.

Status of Signed Bill in Doubt.

Attorneys in the House declared the striking out of the records showing it passed would invalidate the bill. They were uncertain, in the absence of precedent, whether the bill could be recalled or whether the question of invalidity would have to be raised later in some court proceeding to prevent the bill from becoming effective.

The House defeated a motion by Representative Herman Barken of St. Louis County, a member of the Investigating Committee, that additional time be given the committee to investigate. The House also decisively defeated a majority report of three of the five members of the committee, that it be not required to submit its findings until Thursday, in order to make further inquiries. The majority report was made by Barken, Representative Austin E. Huston of Putnam County, and Representative E. A. Duensing of Lafayette County.

A resolution calling for the investigation introduced by Joffee was adopted when the House reconvened Monday afternoon, following a recess since May 22.

Roney joined Joffee in urging the inquiry, saying that while the House records showed the two bills had passed, he and other members were certain the bills had not been passed. Speaker Eugene Nelson appointed a committee of five to make the inquiry.

What the Records Show.

The records showed Senate bill 186 was defeated on April 30, when first called up, falling 30 votes short of the required majority. The Journal contained entries that on May 2, the last day before the recess, the adverse vote was reconsidered, on a motion by Representative James T. Blair of Cole County, Democratic majority floor leader, and the bill then passed by a vote of 80 to 24.

The records showed Senate bill 427 was defeated on April 30, falling 40 votes short of a majority. An unsuccessful attempt to reconsider that vote was made May 1. The journal contained entries that on May 2 the vote by which the bill failed was reconsidered on a motion by Blair. It shows that Representative Keating of Kansas City, who had obtained the adoption of an amendment to the bill before it failed, moved reconsideration of the vote by which the amendment was adopted, and that motion was recorded as prevailing. The record states Keating then withdrew the amendment, and that the bill was passed by a vote of 79 to 18. Keating stated before the committee and before the House that he never had made such motions, or withdrawn the amendment, and said he would not have made such a motion had the bill been called up for reconsideration.

He said he was present at the time the bill was said to have been reconsidered and that it was not called up. In the circumstances, the bill could not have been carried on the House records as finally passed without elimination of the Keating amendment, as otherwise it would have had to go back to the Senate for concurrence in the admendment. Speaker Nelson told the committee the two bills were reconsidered and passed, through unanimous consent to use of previous roll calls. He said this was done at a late hour the night of May 2, immediately after the House had passed the last of the appropriation bills and just before it took a recess until June 1.

Testimony on Disputed Bills.

Blair told the committee he had made the reconsideration motions the night of May 2, and that the bills had been passed by unanimous ocnsent to use previous roll calls, but said he could not fix the exact time. Representatives Heege of St. Louis County, and Elmer of Dent County, said that they had hazy recollections of such motion being made by Blair but could not fix the time or recall the circumstances.

The committee took the statements of about 30 other House members, who said they were present at the time fixed by Speaker Nelson, and could not recall any such action. Several were opponents of one or both of the bills and indicated they would have objected to the use of a previous roll call for the passage of either bill. This practice of passing bills by a previous roll call was necessary, as a quorum of the House was not present on May 2.

Several House members, among them supporters of one or both bills, said they were present at all times the House was in session on May 2, and were positive neither bill had been called up for reconsideration, or passed. At that time the House was working under a resolution previously adopted, limiting it to consideration of appropriation bills and Senate amendments to House bills.

H. C. Adair, official reporter of the House, who makes a record of all official proceedings of the House said he was present at all times the House was in session the night of May 2, and that neither bill was called up in the House for reconsideration or passage.

Hugo Loeffler of Jefferson City, a minute clerk, said he wrote the entries relating to reconsideration and passage of the bills, but declared he could not recall the circumstances. He said there was considerable confusion in the House the night of May 2.

In discussing the matter before the House, Roney said that while it was stated a previous roll call had been used to pass the bills examination of the journal for 10 or 15 days previous to May 2 disclosed no roll call corresponding to those shown in the journal for the two bills.

"I defy anyone to get up here and tell us that these bills were put through this House open and above board with all of us understanding what was going on," Roney said.

No defense of the journal entries showing passage of the bills was made on the floor of the House by any member when the House had the matter under consideration.

Set Free in Chicago Killing; Man Told Her to Shoot and She Did

HELEN DEAL.

CHICAGO, June 3.—Helen Deal, 18 years old, who came here from Sidney, O., was exonerated Tuesday of the killing of Nick Colantonio in the flat where they were living. She said he had gone out with other girls. A Coroner's jury said the killing was justifiable homicide. Helen left her home Jan. 1 to join a circus and met George and Ambrose Rozakles in Fort Wayne, Ind. On their promise of employment she accompanied them to Hot Springs, Ark., and then to Chicago. They got her a job in Colantonio's flat, which was operated as a massage parlor. She said Colantonio had furnished a flat for her and had agreed to marry her. They quarreled about his other girls, one of whom said she was his wife. Colantonio handed Helen a revolver and told her to go ahead and shoot, and she did.

United States Attorney Johnson announced George and Ambrose Rozakles would not be prosecuted on Mann act charges because Helen Deal went with them voluntarily.

RESULTS OF BERLIN PAPER'S QUESTIONNAIRE ON WAR GUILT

BERLIN, June 3.—The Berliner Montagshefte publishes in its June issue what it says is the result of a questionnaire on Germany's war guilt sent to 70 prominent historians and jurists of the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy and European neutral countries.

To the second question, "Do you believe Germany forced the war on the Allied and Associated Powers?" 49 answered no, 13 were indefinite and 8 yes. In answer to the third, "Do you believe the Versailles Verdict was based upon incomplete biased and partly falsified evidence," 51 said yes, 13 were indefinite and one voted no.

STOCK EXCHANGE IN NEW QUARTERS

No Speeches, No Ceremony at First Session in the Landreth Building.

New headquarters of the St. Louis Stock Exchange on the ground floor of the Landreth Building, at Fourth and Locust streets, were opened at 9:30 o'clock this morning. Trading continued dull.

No speeches were made and there were no ceremonies. At 9:28 o'clock, Charles A. Huebner, chairman of the session and assistant secretary of the Exchange, took his place on the rostrum at the west side of the hall, and two minutes later rang a bell to announce the opening with International Shoe, leading trading stock of the local market.

The first sale was 20 shares of Wagner Electric, second stock to open, at 13½, a half point below yesterday's closing. In the first quarter of an hour 450 shares of stock and $14,000 in bonds had been taken.

Only a small group of brokers was present to witness the opening, and the only spectators were the 40 or more persons, including traders, on the floor. The small space back of a brass rail, provided for spectators in the new quarters, was vacant.

In the half hour preceding the opening, members spent their time in testing private telephones to their offices, in receiving cigars marking the occasion, in shaking hands with officers, and examining cards on gifts of flowers.

The new floor, somewhat larger than that occupied on the fifth story of the Security Building, is arranged on much the same plan as that used in the old quarters. Entrances are from Fourth street on the west and from a hall on the south. A directors' room occupies space adjoining Fourth street, with the chairman's rostrum and the floor directly to the east. The private telephones which are numbered up to 37, with number 13 missing, are around the east and north walls, and are separated only by frosted glass partitions.

The last permanent home of the exchange was on the northeast corner of Fourth and Locust streets, which was vacated several months ago, after it had been damaged by water, following a fire on upper floors. Other previous locations were in the Merchants' Exchange Building at 314 North Fourth street.

The St. Louis Stock Exchange was organized in 1899 at 214 North Fourth street, with Henry W. Wernse as president. Its present officers are John A. Aid, president; William H. Berg, vice president; William Louderman, secretary and treasurer. In addition to the officers, Oliver J. Anderson, P. W. Edwards, Edward G. Platt and J. W. Reinhold Jr. are members of the board of governors.

Stocks of 91 local and outside corporations are listed here, with bonds of 29 corporations. Stocks sales in the record year of 1929 amounted to 1,318,911, but fell to 550,800 in 1930. There are 48 members of the Exchange at present.

Senator Smooh, Giving Out President's Telegram, Proposes Non-Official Conference.

By the Associated Press.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, June 3.—Senator Smooth, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, today made public a telegram he received yesterday from President Hoover, saying informal discussions have revealed other nations are opposed to holding an international conference on silver at this time. The President telegraphed:

"I am now able to inform you that informal discussions among nations, some of whose participation is vitally necessary, develop the fact that they do not consider this a proper time to call an international conference on silver and would oppose holding such a conference now."

As an alternative to an official conference, Senator Smoot suggested that the International Chamber of Commerce call "a non-official informal conference of representative men on this question at some point in Europe, preferably London."

ADMITS SHE MARRIED AND BURIED FOUR MEN

Chicago Woman Accused of Poisonings Denies Wedding Two Others, However.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 3.—Mrs. Margaret Summers, held in connection with the deaths by poison of four persons, admitted from a cell in county jail yesterday that she had married and buried four men. She made the admissions in the presence of newspaper men under questioning of her attorneys.

She denied having married Leonard Jones and Warren Merret as the authorities alleged. Officers said Jones was among the 19 persons Mrs. Summers was accused of having poisoned.

Her adopted daughter, Mrs. Victor Ritti, had said her mother had married Merret but that he divorced her for a 16-year-old girl. Her mother later told her Merret was dead, she said. Mrs. Summers denied knowing of Jones.

DR. BUTLER URGES ACTION TO STEM RISING DISCONTENT

Educator Warns Against Contemplative Inaction — "Masses Will Not Long Suffer Penury," He Declares.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 3.—President Nicholas Murray Butler, addressing an audience of 20,000 at the commencement exercises at Columbia University yesterday, warned civilized nations that they must rouse themselves from their "lethargy of contemplative inaction" and act promptly to prevent political and economic revolution from sweeping over the entire world.

He advised that use of "lust for power or greed for gain to public disadvantage" be made increasingly difficult, and that nations allay discontent and remove temptations to disorder.

"Today progressive and enlightened liberalism is everywhere true conservatism," Dr. Butler said. "Stubborn resistance to betterment may well be the first step toward catastrophe.

"Why is that progress, in which we take such pride, so uncertain and, indeed, so inconsequent in meeting not only the hopes, but the needs, of so many human beings?"

Interests in Common Mold.

Dr. Butler said that "Science and the practical applications of science have within a few decades revolutionized the practical conditions of life;" "that they have almost destroyed the efforts of distance in space and time," and "have cast the interests of men, however remotely they may be placed, in a common mold.

"Yet masses of food material are produced, now in the United States, now in Argentina, now in the Valley of the Danube, and no market is found for them, while not far away thousands upon thousands of human beings are in want of food.

"These are all familiar facts. They have been stated over and over again. The only possible reason for restating them is that nothing adequate or even earnest is being done in regard to the grave matters to which they relate. Repetition is perhaps the only way by which a sluggish, a self-centered and a somnolent public opinion can be stirred to look deeply into these questions before it is too late. Too late for what? Too late to stem the tide of discontent, of disorder and of political and economic revolution."

Gap in the System.

"Great masses of men will not indefinitely sit quietly by and see themselves and those dependent upon them reduced to want while civilization has so much to offer. Somewhere and somehow there is a gap, a want of balance, in our social, our economic, and our political system which we have not found ways or means to fill.

"The revolutionaries feel no need of property, of family, of faith, of God. They call only for the absolute negation of everything which for more than 3000 years has meant what we have called progress.

"If we are effectively to allay discontent and successfully to remove temptation to disorder and revolution, we dare not sit indefinitely in contemplative inaction. The challenge is too peremptory and too ominous."

Comments on Devil's Discontent.

He reminded the chaplains that two years ago in the midst of rejoicings over the conciliation with Italy he had said "abandon yourselves to hosannas now, but crucifixion will indeed come."

"Do not let us deceive ourselves," he concluded, "that the devil could have remained tranquil before so much good.

"There is, however, this consolation—if the devil has not been tranquil but has shown himself discontented, it is a certain sign that we are doing good."

Pietro Cardinal Gasparri is said to be continuing conciliatory efforts. Spokesmen on both sides say there is some sort of activity preparing the ground for negotiations.

Boston Mayor Chats for Half Hour With Italian King.

By the Associated Press.

ROME, June 3.—King Victor Emmanuel received Mayor James Curley of Boston in a 30-minute audience today, discussing with him the problems of unemployment and relations between the church and state in Italy. Curley said later that the King was much interested in America and showed himself thoroughly conversant with economic conditions there. Curley expressed his admiration for Italy's action in halting the march of Communism and for the settlement of the Roman question two years ago. He said he believed the present religious difficulties would be settled at once.

The continuance of the impasse, he said, might affect Italy's tourist trade amounting from $150,000,000 to $220,000,000 yearly and might also have an unfavorable effect on public opinion throughout the world.

"The King seemed quite in agreement," Curley said, "I am satisfied from his manner that the matter is in the process of adjustment."

WOUNDED ROBBER ADMITS 4 HOLDUPS OF LOAN CONCERNS

Paul Daeumler, 20, Shot by Officer Who Walked in on Crime, Says He Got $1371.

REFUSES, HOWEVER TO SIGN CONFESSION

Youth Questioned at City Hospital, Where He Is Recovering From Slight Injury to Right Thigh.

Paul Daeumler, 20-year-old robber who was shot and captured Monday afternoon after he had held up the branch office of the Royal Loan Co., 1506 Hodiamont avenue, confessed yesterday that he had previously held up four loan company offices, obtaining $1371.

Daeumler was questioned at City Hospital, where he is recovering from a wound in the right thigh, by Detective Sergeant Selle and Detective McGauley. Although they said he readily admitted the other holdups he refused to sign a confession.

The first robbery, according to the report, was last Dec. 4, when Daeumler, having lost his job at the Personal Finance Co. office in Alton, held up John J. Regan, manager, taking $176. The Household Finance Co. office in the Commercial Building was held up for $295 March 5, and $200 was taken in the robbery of the company's branch at 520A North Grand boulevard March 17.

The Royal Loan Co. branch, where the robber was captured, was held up by him March 26, when he obtained about $700, the report states.

Daeumler, who lived with his widowed mother at 715 Atalanta avenue, Webster Groves, is not seriously wounded. He was shot by Deputy Constable Everett Cochran of Central Township, who entered the office unarmed, slipping out and obtaining a revolver when he discovered a holdup was in progress.

Sweepstakes Ticket Seller Freed by New York Appellate Court.

By the Associated Press.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 3.—A horse race sweepstakes pool is not a form of policy, according to the State Court of Appeals. The State's highest court affirmed an order of the Appellate Division reversing the conviction of Meyer Edelstein, sentenced to 60 days in the workhouse after trial in a New York County Court on a charge of possessing policy slips.

It was alleged Edelstein had a bundle of tickets for a $600,000 sweepstakes pool on the Cambridgeshire race run in England last October. The New York County Prosecutor, who appealed to the Court of Appeals, argued the game was a lottery on a race to be held at a future date.

Sweepstakes Ticket Seller Freed by New York Appellate Court.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 3.—A horse race sweepstakes pool is not a form of policy, according to the State Court of Appeals. The State's highest court affirmed an order of the Appellate Division reversing the conviction of Meyer Edelstein, sentenced to 60 days in the workhouse after trial in a New York County Court on a charge of possessing policy slips.

It was alleged Edelstein had a bundle of tickets for a $600,000 sweepstakes pool on the Cambridgeshire race run in England last October. The New York County Prosecutor, who appealed to the Court of Appeals, argued the game was a lottery on a race to be held at a future date.

ACCUSED MURDERER DEFEATED FOR JUDGE

David H. Clark, Los Angeles, Gets 67,014 Votes Against Opponent's 95,774.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 3.—While he was being bound over for trial on charges of murdering Charles Crawford, political boss, and Herbert Spencer, magazine editor and writer, David H. Clark polled more than 67,000 votes here yesterday for Municipal Judge, but was defeated.

Complete official returns gave Clark 67,014 votes and his opponent, Charles B. MacCoy, incumbent, 95,774.

Clark, central figure in a case described by prosecuting authorities as a racketeering killing, remained in jail today, unable to raise $100,000 bond set for his release pending trial.

Special Prosecutor Joseph Ford announced Jean Riley, motion-picture actress, had been dismissed as a State witness. She did not testify. Miss Riley confessed, Ford said, that her story that she had seen three men run from Crawford's office immediately after the shooting, May 20, was a fabrication, told in the hope of getting publicity.

Clark's attorneys did not ask for dismissal of the charges at the close of the hearing, saying he felt all facts should be brought to light in Superior Court. Municipal Judge Carl B. Sturzenacker granted him bail over the protest of Ford.

Two defense witnesses, Spencer Moxley of the Police Department and Capt. Edward C. Crossman, ballistics expert, testified they were unable to tell whether the bullets which killed Crawford and Spencer were from the same pistol.

Two State witnesses identified Clark as the man seen to enter Crawford's office before and leave after the shooting.

LADY JUNE INVERCLYDE IN RENO TO FILE DIVORCE SUIT

Hopes Titled Husband Will Take Like Action in England So She Can Wed Again.

By the Associated Press.

RENO, Nev., June 3.—Lady June Inverclyde, beautiful blonde wife of John Alan Burns, wealthy officer of the Cunard Steamship Co., said today she expects to file suit for divorce here at once and leave immediately thereafter for Beverly Hills, Cal. She said she would remain in the southern California city for several weeks, returning to Reno in August for the divorce trial.

Lady Inverclyde expressed the hope her titled husband would likewise get a divorce in England because that would leave her free to marry again without violating Britain's bigamy laws. Should Lord Inverclyde not do so, she said she probably would return to the London stage, where Julian Wylie, producer, has an option on her services.

The name of Lothar Mendes, Paramount motion picture director, has been frequently linked with that of Lady Inverclyde, but today she refused to admit they were more than friends.

ries. The $10,000 Brunk received from Edlin has been described by the House managers as a payment for official favors extended by Brunk.

Col. Loy on Stand.

One of the early witnesses for the defense was Col. T. H. Loy of Aurora, commander of the 203d Anti-Aircraft Division of the Missouri National Guard. Loy, in addition to being a character witness for Brunk, told of efforts to reorganize the Bank of Aurora after its failure.

It developed from Loy's testimony that Brunk, who had loans of approximately $25,000, all past due, in the bank, had told the reorganization committee that he would be able to get enough money to meet 51 per cent of the $150,000 which the State Finance Commissioner at that time thught would be sufficient to reopen the bank.

The defense sought to show that Commissioner Cantley was prejudiced against Brunk, and constantly increased the estimate of the amount of new money which would be required to $370,000 and refused to permit the bank to reopen if Brunk had any part in it.

Col. Loy testified that the reorganizers attempted "to evade disclosing" the source from which the money was to come, and that at a conference, when Cantley asked whether Brunk was furnishing the money, M. T. Davis, head of the committee, said that he did not consider the question as to where the money was coming from of importance, just so it was obtained.

Efforts to reorganize the bank were abandoned, Loy said, when the investigation of the assets by bank examiners continued to disclose additional items, and when the Finance Commissioner said $370,000 of new money would be needed.

Loy said that, while Cantley said nothing about Brunk except to inquire whether Brunk had any part in the reorganization, he gained the impression that Cantley was opposed to the reopening of the bank with any money supplied by Brunk.

Chairman Clay of the House managers brought out on cross-examination that Brunk had assured the Reorganization Committee that his friends were going to subscribe for stock to reopen the bank. Loy had testified on direct examination that Brunk's reputation for honesty and integrity in Aurora was good, and on cross-examination said he and Brunk had been friends since Brunk was a child.

BANKER GETS 5 TO 7 YEARS IN ASHEVILLE (N. C.) COURT

W. B. Davis, Ex-Head of Defunct Depository, to Appeal; Bond Set at $10,000.

By the Associated Press.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., June 3.—Wallace B. Davis, former president of the defunct Central Bank & Trust Co. here, today was sentenced to serve five to seven years in State's prison for violation of the State banking laws.

Counsel for Davis filed notice of appeal to the Supreme Court from the sentence and bond was set at $10,000.

Davis was found guilty several weeks ago of causing a false report of the bank's condition prior to its closing to be published. The bank failed last fall with $20,000,000 on deposit, including $8,000,000 in funds of Buncombe County and the city of Asheville.

Judge M. V. Barnhill criticised the citizens of this section who, he said, appeared to desire "persecution" rather than "prosecution" of Davis.

Frank A. Pappi, who said he was a retired New York banker here on a vacation, was sentenced by Judge Barnhill to 10 days in jail for contempt of court for criticising the sentence imposed on Davis in the hearing of the Judge outside the court, but later was ordered released on payment of a $25 fine. Pappi sent for the Judge after beginning service of his sentence and made a public apology in court.

MAN WALKING BACKWARD AROUND WORLD REACHES CITY

Plennie L. Wingo, a former restaurant keeper of Abilene, Tex., backed through St. Louis today on a reverse walking trip around the world. He left Fort Worth, Tex., on April 15, expects to be in New York next fall and hopes to return home by way of California within three years. He is 36 years old.

Equipped with rear-vision mirrors on his dark goggles, Plennie backed briskly along Manchester avenue toward the Free Bridge, pausing occasionally to sell photographs of himself to defray expenses.

"I hadn't heard of anybody backing around the world," he said, "so I just thought I'd try it. I trained for six months before starting out. It's great for the health, all right—I was nearly bald when I started and now look at my hair." I've lost 22 pounds and am in fine physical fettle. I average three miles an hour, but stop whenever I feel like it. I haven't any important engagement until I see my wife and baby again three years from now.' '

UNION BLVD. CUTOFF PRACTICALLY READY

Park Road at Lindell Could Be Finished in Few Hours.

Motorists, who for weeks have been caught in the traffic jam along Kingshighway, near Forest Park, due to the blockade for the Lindell-Union viaduct construction over the Wabash Railway, have been inquiring why the city has not rushed completion of Park road, the cutoff between Lindell drive and Union boulevard, to relieve the congestion.

Inquiry by the Post-Dispatch yesterday disclosed that work had progressed to the point where it would be possible to open Park road by tomorrow night if city officials gave the order.

Kinsey to Investigate.

President Kinsey of the Board of Public Service, when asked his plans for opening the cutoff and the viaduct, said he would investigate the situation to determine what could be done. "I think we could open Park road as soon as it is ready," he said. "I don't know whether it will be desirable to open the whole viaduct as soon as the paving is done or to hold it until the stone railings are entirely erected. Traffic might interfere with the railing work."

The stone contractor, who has been at work for 10 days, said he would require 10 days or two weeks more to finish. He is using a large crane in the roadway to hoist the heavy stone blocks. Kinsey conceded that it would seem a long delay to keep the viaduct closed for a week or more between the completion of the paving and of the railing.

Park Road Paved.

The paving contractor and city inspectors on the job announced that all the paving could be laid by Saturday night, if weather did not interfere. Park road, as a matter of fact, is paved, and to make it available would require laying of only about 125 feet of asphalt in Lindell drive, at the east end of the work. This could be done within a few hours. The city's representatives directing the laying were planning yesterday to arrange their schedule so that it would be done by tomorrow night.

Asphalt has been completed also on Union boulevard, up to the center of the viaduct, and the placing of asphalt on Union drive, leading to the bridge from Forest Park, was begun yesterday afternoon. On the west leg of the four-pointed crossing, about half of the pavement has been laid on Lindell drive.

25 Men at Work.

A force of about 25 men and three steam rollers is engaged in the paving. City engineers and the contractor said it would not be practical and efficient to put a larger crew on the work. The contractor's asphalt mixing plant has been going at virtual capacity, delivering a five-ton truck load of material to the bridge every 10 minutes. On Monday 315 tons were laid and yesterday about 250 tons. The first asphalt was laid on the new concrete base on May 18. Since then the crew lost two and a half days because of rain, but it worked one Sunday.

City representatives said the east end of Lindell drive was left unpaved for the time being in order to provide the most direct route for trucks to deliver the hot material from the mixing plant. It was found impossible to route the trucks through Forest Park because of a comparatively weak bridge over the old River des Peres channel. Last week the contractor was concentrating on the paving of the new Grand drive in the park, another phase of the railroad grade separation.

Roads Frequently Closed.

Union drive, in Forest Park, was closed by the River des Peres conversion work first, on Oct. 27, 1929. Four days later the Lindell-Union intersection was blockaded by the sewer, but this spot was reopened Jan. 14, 1930. Union drive was reopened April 11, 1930. The viaduct work has kept the Lindell-Union intersection out of service since July 12, 1930. Park road also was out of service from Dec. 10 to Jan. 7 and again since April 27. Last summer there were some temporary interferences with Grand drive and the Lindell and West Pine boulevard entrances to the park. The old Grand drive was finally closed on Nov. 10 and the new one was opened last Friday.

Meanwhile, Lindell drive was blockaded between De Baliviere avenue and Skinker boulevard from April 7 to Nov. 14 last year by the River des Peres work. It is expected that Lindell again will be closed throughout July at Skinker by the construction of the University traffic circle there, but Skinker will be kept open for traffic at all times.

G. O. P. COUNTY GROUP OUSTS ALLY OF ESSEN

Mrs. Edna Fifhause Removed as Secretary of Committee; Successor Chosen.

Mrs. Edna Fifhause, member of the St. Louis County Republican Central Committee from Carondelet Township and of the party faction headed by Fred Essen, was removed as secretary of the committee yesterday at its regular meeting at the Claymo Hotel at Clayton.

Miss May Gardner, member of both the County and State Republican Committees, who was ousted recently as clerk of the County Plumbing Board by the County Court, moved that the office of secretary be declared vacant.

The motion carried by a vote of six to two, Mrs. Fifhause and the Carondelet committeeman, Robert Rohlfing, voting against it. F. William Autenrieth, chairman, did not vote and one member was absent. By the same vote, Frank J. Burkamp, committeeman from St. Ferdinand Township, was elected secretary upon motion by Miss Gardner.

Holman Johnson of Wellston, who was backed by Essen at the last primary when he was defeated for the nomination for Recorder of Deeds by Arthur W. Schmid, anti-Essen leader, was named to succeed Miss Gardner as secretary of the plumbing board.

Essen, who neglected his own political fences for several years, thus enabling Schmid to build up a formidable organization, in recent campaigns has been joining hands with the Taxpayers' League and other reform organizations which were instrumental in electing the present County Court.

NANCY CARROLL'S HUSBAND ADMITS SHE SEEKS DIVORCE

"Still Friends, but Romance Just Went Out Window," Jack Kirkland Says.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 3.—Jack Kirkland, playwright, today confirmed reports that his wife, Nancy Carroll, screen actress, had filed suit for divorce in Mexico. Today was the seventh anniversary of their wedding.

The divorce grounds were reported here as "incompatibility."

Nancy Carroll, red-headed cinema star, came to the screen from New York's seamy Tenth avenue by way of the chorus. She was one of eight children of Mr. and Mrs. Tom La Hiff. She worked as a stenographer and then went to the stage via the "amateur night" route, becoming Ann Veronica. When she was married in June, 1924, she was an unknown. So was Kirkland, at that time a newspaper man.

The action, Kirkland said he understood, was filed in Nogales.

Jefferson Hart, 30 years old, a chauffeur, 1634 Park avenue, died at City Hospital last night of a fractured skull suffered Saturday night when he apparently was struck by an automobile, the driver of which failed to stop.

Hart was found unconscious in Lafayette avenue, near Grattan street, by police, who were passing in a patrol wagon. In addition to the head injury, his body bore many bruises. Fragments of shattered headlight glass were in the street, the officers reported. Hart died without making a statement, and no witnesses have been found.

This death is the seventy-sixth motor vehicle fatality in the city since Jan. 1, compared with 66 on the corresponding date last year.

Bunger, who was 84 years old and an inmate of City Infirmary, was struck by an automobile at 1816 South Broadway, May 21.

Fortner, who was arrested after police had traced the license number of the car which struck the aged man, is charged with striking the man and leaving the scene. Bunger died two days after the accident of internal injuries.

GIRL SLAIN AFTER WOUNDING KIDNAPER

Dragged From Auto and Murdered Near Winona, Minn., by Captor.

By the Associated Press.

WINONA, Minn., June 3.—An attempted kidnaping of Evelyn Brown, 15 years old, of Beaver Dam, Wis., ended today with her murder by her alleged abductor, Roy Ashley, also of Beaver Dam, after being seriously wounded by his victim.

Members of the Elmer Nelson family, who witnessed the affair, told authorities Ashley and the girl were in an automobile which stopped before their farmhouse. As Ashley was filling the radiator with water, they said, the girl screamed, "He kidnaped me." Ashley hurled a bottle at the girl, who fired four times at him. He dragged her from the machine, snatched the girl's pistol and hit her on the head with it. Ashley then drove a quarter of a mile away, pulled the girl from the car near Frank Schultz's farmhouse, five witnesses said, and shot her through the head as she begged for her life.

Three girls who took French leave from the troupe yesterday returned this morning.

SEVEN 5-4 RULINGS BY U. S. SUPREME COURT

In Several Outstanding Decisions, Hughes and Roberts Side With Holmes.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 3. — The number of close decisions given by the Supreme Court in the session just closed shares interest with the fact that the court set a record in the number of cases upon which it acted.

In seven outstanding instances, disposed of in five opinions, the nine members of the court were divided five to four. Old attaches of the court said they could not recall a term in which the number of five-four decisions was so great.

All these cases found Associate Justices Van Devanter, Sutherland, Butler and McReynolds on one side; and Holmes, Brandeis and Stone on the other, with the deciding votes cast by the court's two most recent appointees, Chief Justice Hughes or Associate Justice Roberts.

Hughes and Roberts.

In all but one of these cases, Hughes was with the court's old dissenting minority of Holmes, Brandeis and Stone. In all but two cases Roberts was similarly alligned.

In the three cases in which Hughes or Roberts joined it, the view of the Van Devanter, Sutherland, McReynolds-Butler group prevailed. In the others, these four rendered dissenting opinions.

These circumstances have been the subject of comment in recent weeks because of the attack on the old Supreme Court majority and on Hughes at the time of his confirmation by the Senate.

For years, Van Devanter, Sutherland, McReynolds and Butler, with the late Chief Justice Taft and Justice Sanford, almost invariably formed a majority of the court. They were criticised in the Senate by Democrats and independent Republicans and charged with having read conservative and reactionary prejudices into the Constitution. Hughes was assailed as sharing their views.

Five to Four Decision.

The seven five-to-four decisions follow:

The New Jersey law regulating fire insurance commissions was sustained in two cases with Van Devanter, McReynolds, Sutherland and Butler dissenting.

The Massachusetts inheritance tax was held not to apply to the Coolidge estate, with Holmes, Brandeis, Stone and Roberts dissenting.

The Indiana chain store tax was sustained with Van Devanter, McReynolds, Sutherland and Butler dissenting.

Citizenship was denied in two cases to aliens who refused to take an unqualified oath to defend the country by arms, with Hughes, Holmes, Brandeis and Stone dissenting.

The Minnesota press suppression law was declared unconstitutional with Van Devanter, McReynolds, Sutherland and Butler dissenting.

It is traditional that the court desires when possible to present a united front and disclose no division in announcing its decision.

The 5 to 4 decisions were not the only ones last term in which dissent was announced, but it was noticeable in them that unusual emphasis was used by those delivering the opinion of the court as well as by those expressing dissent.

Record of Session.

A total of 900 cases was disposed of by the court during the session, as compared with 794 the term previous: 1039 cases were placed on the docket as compared with 984; 139 cases were carried over to the term beginning next October, as compared with 190 carried over a year ago.

None of the appellate cases which failed to reach a decision were more than six months old. Many of them were not disposed of for the reason that counsel was unable to prepare its argument in time. The court itself was ready to hear and dispose of more cases than it actually did.

10 BURMAN INSURGENTS SLAIN IN ATTACKS ON CONSTABULARY

500 Storm Forts at Wettigan While Punjabi Police Reinforcements Raid Monastery.

By the Associated Press.

RANGOON, Burma, June 3.—Serious encounters between the police and insurgents took place during the last few days in the Wettigan region, it is reported here.

One of a group of five insurgents was shot by 11 military police investigating crimes committed by Dacoits. Later 100 insurgents attacked the police, who opened fire but retreated to Wettigan with one constable missing.

Monday a body of Punjabis sent as reinforcements barely escaped an ambush. Following some native footprints, they came to a monastery where they arrested five monks and four laymen. While the raid was taking place 500 insurgents attacked the forts at Wettigan. Police resisted the attack for four hours before they were relieved; killing 10 insurgents and wounding many others. The insurgents were armed with muskets and revolvers.

Police at Chittagong frustrated an attempt to blow up the law courts when they discovered four kegs of dynamite near the buildings with fuses set.

LACLEDE GAS TRIES TWO WAYS OF BILLING

Customers Asked to Choose Between Cubic Feet and Therms in Statements.

Customers of the Laclede Gas Light Co. will receive gas bills this month computed in both cubic feet and therms, and will be asked to state on a slip attached to the bill their choice of these methods of billing. The amount of the bill is the same by either method.

The company is acting under an order of the State Public Service Commission giving it authority, beginning with meter readings of June 1, to use the therm method at the option of the customer. The slip attached to bills gives the customer the opportunity to indicate by an X the method he prefers and a notice on the face of the slip states that the company will consider no reply as consent to bill on the therm basis.

A therm is a measure of heat value. It is 100,000 British thermal units. St. Louis gas contains 600 B. T. U.'s to the cubic foot, and 1000 cubic feet equals six therms in heat value.

A leaflet going out with gas bills gives the company's reasons for changing to the therm method. "Billing upon a therm basis," it says, "secures a more satisfactory expression of the actual value of the service rendered the customer. Gas expressed in volume (cubic feet) does not correctly show the service rendered, as a cubic foot of gas containing 600 B. T. U. is considerably more valuable than gas containing 500 B. T. U. per cubic foot, although on a volume basis the amount of gas would be shown identically the same."

It is also understood that the change is in preparation for the possible introduction of natural gas in mixture with manufactured gas. This would result in a higher B. T. U. content. E. L. White, comptroller of the company, said that in case of introduction of natural gas any change in the B. T. U. standard and the rates would have to be submitted to the Public Service Commission for approval, and rates would have to be equal on either basis.

Present therm rates are: First two therms, 80 cents; next 28, 15.7 cents a therm; next 300, 14.2 cents a therm; next 600, 12.5 cents a therm; excess over 930, 10 cents a therm. A table prepared by the company shows that these rates produce bills identical with the present cubic foot rates except that in some cases the bill on the therm basis will be one cent more or less, on account of fractions.

Bills will continue to show meter readings, the company's announcement states.

GEN. M'ARTHUR RAKES PACIFIST CLERGYMEN

Says They Want Privileges of Democracy Without Accepting Responsibilities.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Douglas MacArthur, chief of staff of the army, says in a letter published today that the open opposition by clergymen to bearing arms in war "apparently stamps the clergyman as a leading exponent of law violation at individual pleasure."

Replying to a request by Kirby Page, editor of the magazine, The World Tomorrow, for his opinion regarding the expressions of clergymen on whether they would bear arms in war, the General pointed out that the questions of war and peace rested with Congress and any declaration of war voiced the will of the people.

"That men who wear the cloth of the church should openly defend repudiation of the laws of the land with the necessary implications and ramifications arising from such a general attitude toward our statutes seems almost unbelievable," he said.

A Feeling of Surprise.

"My predominant feeling with reference to the majority of the replies received by your paper from 19,372 clergymen is that of surprise," the General said.

"Surprise at the knowledge that so many of the clergymen of our country have placed themselves on record as repudiating in advance the constitutional obligations that wil fall upon them equally with all other elements of our citizenship in supporting this country in case of need."

"To exercise privilege without assuming attendant responsibility and obligation," he added, "is to occupy a position of license, a position apparently sought by men who do not hesitate to avail themselves of the privileges conferred by our democracy upon its citizens, but who in effect proclaim their willingness to see this nation perish rather than participate in its defense."

Church and State.

The General added that the clergymen's sentiments were injecting the church into the affairs of state and "endangering the very principle that they claim to uphold."

The terms of the Geneva convention provided, he added, that chaplains were noncombatants and he expressed "surprise" that some had lost sight of the fact that in none of America's past wars had clergymen been required to bear arms.

"The fact that our citizens' military training camps," the General said in conclusion, "are over-subscribed long before the opening of the camps comforts me that patriotism is still a dominant power in our land. . . .

"I confidently believe that a red-blooded and virile humanity, which loves peace devotedly, but is willing to die in the defense of the right, is Christian from center to circumference and will continue to be dominant in the future as in the past."

LOWEST BID IS $14,552 FOR PEDESTRIAN TUNNEL

Construction of Twelfth Boulevard and Market Street Link to Start in Few Weeks.

The lowest of 13 bids received by the Board of Public Service yesterday for the construction of a pedestrian tunnel under Twelfth boulevard at Market street was $14,552.25 by S. C. London, a local contractor. City engineers had estimated the cost at $20,400. The highest of any of the bids was $19,952.

The tunnel will run from the southwest to the southeast corner of the intersection, and provision will be made in its construction for the later addition of another tunnel crossing under Market street on the west side of Twelfth boulevard. The section to be constructed this summer will be 7 feet high, 10 feet 3 inches in width and will be finished with enamel brick.

A stairway will give entrance on the east and a stairway and ramp on the west. Construction is scheduled to begin within a few weeks.

RICE MILL RECEIVERS NAMED

McGill Brothers Property at Stuttgart, Ark., Involved.

By the Associated Press.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., June 3.—Charles Miller of Altheimer, former president of the Arkansas Rice Growers' Co-operative Association, and Virgil C. Pettite of Little Rock have been appointed by the Federal bankruptcy referee as co-receivers for the McGill brothers' rice mill at Stuttgart.

Paul R. McCoy, who was appointed receiver upon petition in Chancery Court, turned over assets of the mill. The bankruptcy petition was filed in Chancery Court the day search began for A. U. McGill, who disappeared after his automobile was found in White River. He returned after a week and told of going to St. Louis while in a coma. An involuntary bankruptcy petition filed against the partnership of A. U. and H. T. McGill, brothers, operators of the mill, was referred to the bankruptcy referee.

Candy Sales Off Only 2 Per Cent.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 3. — Candy, weighing 1,335,617,903 pounds, was consumed in this country last year. This was only 2 per cent less than in the "prosperity year" of 1929. The figures, made public at the annual convention of the National Confectioners' Association, show that children accounted for 14.6 per cent of the sales and that the average amount eaten by each person was 12.59 pounds.

RUSSIAN DICTATOR LIVES IN 3-ROOM FLAT

Stalin Avoids Public, Has Sense of Humor, Is Fond of Ballet.

(Copyright, 1931.)

MOSCOW, June 3.—Joseph Stalin, Russia's dictator—who, incidentally, insists that he is no dictator but merely "general secretary of the Executive Committee of the Communist party"—has none of Mussolini's stern and rockbound aspect.

The "man of steel" is a Georgian, and some of the sunshine of Georgia's southern climate runs in the veins of his race.

So Stalin laughs freely, seems to have a sense of humor and to enjoy a joke hugely. Sometimes his lapses into jocularity are disconcerting to his lieutenants. Witness what occurred at the recent all-union congress of Soviets. Stalin, sitting on the platform surrounded by commissars and high officials, told stories, jokes and chuckled intermittently while his disciple, the Premier Molotov, was reading solemnly a long "speech from the throne."

However, those who have watched Stalin closely recently wonder whether the cares of vast power and heavy responsibility are not sobering and ageing him. Gray is beginning to show in his luxuriant black hair and lines are showing in his usually smooth and pleasant countenance.

Of the personal tastes of the Soviet leader little is known beyond the fact that he is fond of the Russian ballet, which he attends frequently, alone and shielded by a screen in his box from the public gaze. He hates public appearances; his big car drives up to the side entrance of the state theater and he slips in with two or three friends, who really act as bodyguards.

Although the most powerful man in a nation of 150,000,000, Stalin lives with his wife and two children in a little three-room flat outside the Kremlin as simply as any peasant.

LIQUOR IN AUTO WHICH HITS PROSECUTOR'S PARKED CAR

Assistant U. S. District Attorney in East St. Louis Arrests Two Men in Machine.

Assistant United States District Attorney William C. Ingram, East St. Louis, heard a crash last night and ran out to find that his parked car had been damaged by a passing automobile.

The occupants of the other car offered to settle for the damage on the spot, but Ingram glanced into the tonneau of their car and, observing two large kegs, placed the men under arrest. The kegs, one of 10-gallon and the other of 20-gallon capacity, contained whisky, he reported.

The men identified themselves as John Karvelat, 831 North Thirty-first street, East St. Louis, driver of the other car, and Peter Dorksis, 850 North Thirty-first street. The accident occurred near Twenty-ninth and State streets, East St. Louis.

CORNERSTONE FOR FIRMIN DESLOGE HOSPITAL IS LAID

$1,000,000 Institution for St. Louis U. Medical School for People of Moderate Means.

The 113th commencement of St. Louis University was concluded yesterday afternoon with laying of the corner stone of the new $1,000,000 Firmin Desloge Hospital at Grand boulevard and Rutger street, opposite the School of Medicine.

As speakers pointed out, the new hospital fills three long recognized needs in St. Louis: a hospital particularly dedicated to the service of persons of moderate means, a teaching hospital adjacent to the School of Medicine, and, by relieving St. Mary's Infirmary of its present use for white persons, a hospital for Negroes, which is to include a nursing school for Negro college women.

The ceremony began, following awarding of degrees at the university gymnasium, with an academic procession from Battery A Armory to the rapidly rising framework of the new building. The steel and concrete work of four of the 13 stories has been completed, and the building is to be ready for occupancy in 14 months.

Archbishop Blesses Stone.

Archbishop Glennon directed the actual laying of the corner stone and blessed it. In it were sealed copies of daily newspapers, the year's archives of the university, catalogues of its various schools and so on. It is inscribed "to the deathless memory of Firmin Desloge."

In a brief address Archbishop Glennon offered to the family of the late lead magnate, whose gift made possible erection of the hospital, "the thanks, not only of ourselves, the great Society of Jesus and the Sisters of St. Mary, but of the entire community."

He remarked that placing of the cornerstone was "somewhat heroic," since it was inscribed with the ancient words that the modern world would reject—Charity, Light and Salvation, "or health, as it is popularly called." He ventured that the wodern world had little place for charity, and not much use for light, preferring "to set its ways in darkness, particularly if the light happens to be a supernatural light."

The Very Rev. Robert S. Johnston, S. J., president of the university, dwelt upon the charity of Firmin Desloge, his widow, and his two sons, in the consecration of the hospital to persons of moderate means.

"Many times we have prayed for means to build a hospital larger than the infirmary and near the school of medicine," said Mother Concordia, head of the Sisters of St. Mary, who will operate the hospital jointly with the university. "We will again be able to take care of our middle class."

Plan to Enlarge School.

Outlining plans for the hospital and School of Nursing for Negroes, she said that the young college women would be aided and instructed in working for the betterment of their race. She praised Mrs. Desloges' additional gift for a $100,000 chapel for sisters, patients, nurses and medical students.

Dr. Charles H. Neilson, associate dean of the medical school, related that, years ago, Dr. Abraham Flexner, distinguished authority on education, asked him what the School of Medicine needed most, and that he replied, "a teaching hospital adjacent to the school."

"Across the street in the medical school, there is as important research and as efficient teaching as in many medical schools with five times the money and equipment," he said, "but the building is too small." He outlined plans for enlarging it with a Gothic tower south of the present structure, and a new wing extending east along Vista avenue.

"Surely there are 10 people in St. Louis who would give $10,000 each for that tower," he suggested. "In the entrance would be a plaque with the names of the donors, inscribed not in the memory—thank God!—but in the love of Father Schwitalla."

"I know of no hospital so well named as this hospital," said the Rev. Alphonse M. Schwitalla, dean of the medical school. He dwelt upon the life of Firmin Desloge as "a life of sacrifice, work and generosity," and urged the graduating class to keep, as their last memory of medical school, the hospital commemorating his name.

CHURCH COUNCIL TO CAMPAIGN FOR ARMAMENT REDUCTION

Program of Education on Geneva Conference; Petitions to President Hoover.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 3.—Bishop Francis J. McConnell, president of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America yesterday announced a campaign among members of its affiliated churches aimed at obtaining drastic reductions in air, land and sea armaments.

He said the council would start a program of activities to acquaint church people with issues to be discussed at the general disarmament conference in Geneva next February. Petitions calling for reductions in armaments will be circulated and forwarded to President Hoover, he said.

HEARST SUGGESTS U. S. BORROW FIVE BILLION

Publisher Thinks Liquor Sale Revenue Could Pay Debt in Five Years.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 3.—William Randolph Hearst, the publisher, in a radio address last night urged the Federal Government to borrow $5,000,000,000 to restore prosperity and suggested that it could pay off the debt in five years by abolishing prohibition.

"This is not a time to reduce the national debt through burdensome taxation and thereby reduce prosperity," he said. "It is a time to increase the national debt and increase the expenditure of the Government in public works, in the employment of labor, and thereby increase prosperity. Then out of prosperity to pay off the debt."

"And," he added, "if the Government desires further to increase its income let it end this folly of prohibition which does not prohibit, and substitute Government control of the manufacture and distribution of alcoholic beverages, and so secure for itself, on the basis of the figures of Canada's excise income, an additional income of a billion dollars a year.

"That excise income to the United States Government of a billion dollars a year would in itself pay off in five years $5,000,000,000 borrowed and spent to restore prosperity."

Hearst gave "over-capitalization" as the cause of the depression in his address, broadcast over a national radio hookup of the Columbia System. He criticised industry for failing to use the increased income it received during the period of prosperity for "higher wages and shorter working hours" for its employes.

"If this had been done," he said, "the shorter working hours would obviously have prevented any lack of employment."

"And," he added, "if wages had been increased in proportion to the productivity of modern machinery and the consequent increase in the profits of industry, the purchasing power of the public would have been increased and the consumption of all kinds of goods and products would have been maintained at a high level, or raised to a still higher level."

Instead, he said, industry so increased its capitalization that there "was no money left to build up the purchasing power of the masses and maintain the conditions which made for prosperity."

Hearst's plan was taken up today by William I. Sirovich, Democratic Congressman from New York, in a telegram to President Hoover.

REBUKE FOR FEDERAL COUNCIL OF CHURCHES

Northern Presbyterians Demand It 'Hold Its Peace' on Birth Control and Such Issues.

By the Associated Press.

PITTSBURG, June 3.—The Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America today stood rebuked by the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. (Northern) for the report approving birth control issued by a committee of the Federal Council.

The assembly yesterday adopted a resolution saying "The General Assembly disapproves ecclesiastical pronouncements on the subject of birth control," and later adopted a motion instructing the Council "to hold its peace on all questions relating to morality and delicacy" until they have been discussed with its constituents, and though the assembly agreed to continue further its participation in the Federal Council, the action was far from unanimous.

A statement from the church General Council, however, gave encouragement to the majority in support of what Dr. Hugh Thomson Kerr of Pittsburg called "the needed voice of Protestantism"—the Federal Council.

Dr. Kerr said the chief administrative body of the church was "unwilling to provide the comfort and satisfaction which our withdrawal from the Federal Council would give to those forces which are hostile to the Protestant churches in the evangelical faith."

The assembly submitted to the presbyteries an overture permitting women to hold membership in the General Council of the church. It disapproved dances and card parties as church functions and adopted a resolution upholding the eighteenth amendment. Commendation of the Assembly was sent to Gov. Louis L. Emmerson of Illinois for his veto of the prohibtion repeal bill.

The Assembly ordered its board of national missions, "in co-operation with local churches and presbyteries, to seek to project and promote a practical and constructive program which will meet the immediate needs of the unemployed; namely, first work, and second, relief."

Southern Presbyterians Drop Church Union Negotiations.

By the Associated Press.

MONTREAT, N. C., June 3. —The general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States (Southern) by a vote of 135 to 105, last night adopted a committee report forbidding further negotiations with four church groups looking toward organic union but adopted a section of the report providing for continued work on a plan of federal union.

The assembly adopted unanimously a resolution expressing "our fraternal love" for the Federal Council of Churches of Christ, from which it had voted to withdraw. "We deplore any expressions to the contrary which may have occurred from the floor of the assembly," the resolution said.

12-YEAR TERM FOR HOLDUP

Floyd Thomas Hobbs, 25 years old, 5474 North Euclid avenue, was sentenced to 12 years in prison by Circuit Judge Taylor yesterday on his plea of guilty of robbery with a deadly weapon. The Henry law, governing such offenses, provides a minimum sentence of 10 years, but two years' additional term was imposed because he was also charged with being a habitual criminal. He had been convicted of robbery in St. Clair County in 1924.

Hobbs and a companion, Albert Dolan, robbed Walter Foster of $14 and his automobile near his home at 3207 Hebert street March 6, last. Dolan pleaded guilty last month and was sentenced to Boonville reformatory.

Lambert and Goodwin Win in Second Round Of District Golf Play

By W. J. McGoogan.

Of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.

MIDLAND VALLEY COUNTRY CLUB, June 3.—Don Lambert, St. Louis Country Club, and Benny Goodwin, Algonquin, won the first of the second round matches completed in the sixteenth annual district golf tournament here today, Lambert winning over Alvin Cohen of Westwood, 6 and 5, and Goodwin defeating Bruce Miller, also of Algonquin, 3 and 2.

Lambert was under par for the 13 holes he had to play while Cohen, after winning the first two holes, No. 1 with a par and the second with an eagle 3, became wild with his approach shots and found considerable trouble before the match was over.

Lambert started on the third hole and won six in a row and tied the ninth to make the turn 4 up. Don made a birdie deuce on the difficult par No. 5, placing his tee shot in the teeth of a high wind within 10 inches of the cup.

Goodwin turned in a card of 71, one under par, for the 18 holes, while Bruce Miller had an approximate 73 for the round. Goodwin made the turn all square and they halved the tenth in par threes. Goodwin scored birdies on the eleventh and twelfth holes to go two up. Miller retaliated with a birdie on No. 13 to reduce Goodwin's margin to one up, but Goodwin came back to win the fourteenth and took the fifteenth with a par four, going three up. They halved 16 with threes.

CARNOUSTIE, Scotland, June 3.—Johnny Farrell, United States open champion in 1928, today led his eight fellow Americans into the second round of the British open golf championship, but was forced to share the lead with two British professionals, Henry Cotton and W. T. Twine.

Farrell, Cotton and Twine got par 72s to lead the field of 109 picked professionals and amateurs from all over the world, gathered here in the cradle of golf to seek the crown Bobby Jones won last year in his triumphal march.

Close on their heels was Tommy Armour, also a former United States open king, with 73, and Gene Sarazen, with 74, MacDonald Smith and Joe Kirkwood with 75s, Willie Hunter with a 76 and Horton Smith and Joe Turnesa with 77s. All were within striking distance. Only Tony Manero was back in the ruck, the little Italian from New Jersey taking a sad 82.

Irish Hurlers A. C. defeat- e German Sport Club No. 1, , last night at Sherman Park, ke the lead in the St. Louis teur Twilight Soccer League. ne game was a very poor exhibi- on of soccer and developed into at is known as a "meat" game, playing the man instead of the ll. The first half, which ended oreless, was clean with one ex- eption, but good soccer was sad- y lacking. In this period Referee Jimmy Dunn sent Right Halfback Aubuchon of the Hurlers and Inside Left Gagle of the Germans to the showers for kicking one another around a bit. As no substitute is allowed under the league rules, each club finished the half with 10 men.

The second half started and, with the teams changing positions on the field, the Hurlers had a strong wind at their backs. And then things began to happen. Players of both teams charged into one another and at the 13-minute mark the Hurlers showed a minute of good football and scored the only goal of the game. Center Forward Zimmerman got hold of the ball, took a shot from the penalty line and Goalie Jasorka came out of his goal to make the save, and fell as he cleared the ball to Inside Right Collins, who, taking advantage of Jasorka's inability to get back to his position, booted the ball into the net.

Three minutes later the Germans had a chance to tie the score when Referee Dunn awarded the Germans a penalty kick when Left Fullback Lou McHenry tripped an opponent. Setnad took the shot and the ball hit the cross bar. At this point the game became very rough, and Referee Dunn sent Fullback Tom Kelly out of the game for fighting. The Hurlers, playing with nine men, then carried the ball to the Germans' goal and forced a corner kick. Fullback Kohler, peeved at the decision, kicked the ball off the field, and Referee Jimmy Brannigan sent him to the clubhouse. Just before the game ended the Germans put on a rush, and as a shot hit the cross bar, Goalie McAndrews and the German players began a fistic encounter, but no one was ejected.

President Joe McLaughlin announced after the game that Kohler and Gagle of the Germans and Kelly, McAndrews and Aubuchon would be recommended for suspensions to the Executive Committee, which meets Friday night at Sherman Park.

Tomorrow night the Dolans will play the Andys, starting at 6:15 p. m.

BAD WEATHER WILL CAUSE POSTPONEMENT OF COLLEGE REGATTA

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 3.—The Intercollegiate Rowling Association's Poughkeepsie regatta on June 16 will be postponed until the following day if weather conditions similar to those of 1930 and 1929 prevail.

The association is taking the position that it is unfair to have the crews go through a long siege of training for the four-mile classic only to have it spoiled by rough weather. Four crews sank in the 1929 regatta and Navy's shell went under last year.

GREAT GUN WINS THE MATURITY WITH FAST MILE

By the Associated Press.

BELMONT RACE TRACK, June 3.—Great Gun, the Glen Riddle Farm's improving colt, showed rare gameness to win his second consecutive purse by leading a smart field home in the Maturity, a one-mile dash which headed today's race card here. The son of American Flag again defeated Grattan, from the Rancocas Stable, in a driving finish as he did a few days ago, scoring by a neck, thanks largely to a strong ride by Robertson. Two lengths off the pair came J. E. Davis' Gigantic to nose Milkman out of the show position.

The track was fast and Great Gun covered the eight furlongs in 1:36 4-5. He was a 12-to-1 bet. Curate was favorite, but after getting away slowly in a poor start, the J. E. Widener horse was taken wide at the turns and never was prominent.

The race was worth $4075 to the winner.

Robertson broke Great Gun on top and allowed him to open up a two-length lead approaching the far turn but Grattan raced up to him and around the bend, forged to the front with a slight lead. Milkman was a couple of lengths back. Straightened out for the stretch drive, Grattan held a head advantage but in the battle to the judges' stand, Robertson outrode Watters and Great Gun's gameness asserted itself. Gigantic closed very fast to get the show.

favorable morning conditions. Tomorrow they go out later.

Most of the great names of present-day British golf, the Whitcombes, Archie Compston, Abe Mitchell, Ted Ray and the old-timer, Rex Hartley, were back in the field, not out of it yet by several putts, but not going so good.

Charles Whitcombe, captain of the British Ryder cup team, had an 80, his brother, Reginald, a 79, Compston and Mitchell 77, Ray a 79 and Hartley an 80.

Of the topnotchers, only Cotton and Arthur Havers, winner in 1923, were "in the money," young Henry in the lead and Havers with 75. Ahead of them were such little-advertised professionals as William Large and W. H. Oke, who carded 74's.

The two wandering British pros, Percy Alliss of Berlin and Aubrey Boomer of St. Cloud, France, played nicely, Alliss with a 74 and Boomer two strokes higher.

Three of the four Argentines in the tournament also stayed well up, Tomasco Genta with a 75 and Jose Jurado and Marco Churio, the youngster of the quartet, with 76's.

Wray's COLUMN

"Don't Want Wilson."

HACK WILSON led the world in home runs last year and also drove in more runs than any other hitter in the National League.

But the Cardinals do not want him in their organization. Branch Rickey said so. And Branch is old Hawkshaw himself, when it comes to detecting desirable men for the Redbird outfit.

WILSON.

It all came out when a report in circulation on 'Change, yesterday, that Wilson was to be traded for Chick Hafey, was run to roost.

"Not only is there no such deal on or contemplated, but the Cardinals could not use Wilson in their organization," Rickey declared.

Just like that! The party on the receiving end of the 'phone was almost shocked out of the chair. Can't use Hack Wilson! Don't want him on the team! Sounds like an egg cracking under the strain. Mr. Rickey was besought to explain why he or anybody else in the diamond game couldn't use a "Kohinoor" like Hack Wilson.

Might Wreck Team's Morale.

"I MEAN what I say," continued Mr. Rickey, in his best broadcasting vein. "In the first place I think Chick Hafey is a more valuable man to the Cardinals than Wilson. I'll go further and say that I would not trade a single Cardinal regular under existing conditions, for Wilson, provided I had to keep Hack and use him on the ball club.

"In the first place we have to recognize that the new ball has undoubtedly had a serious effect on the batting of certain players. Wilson is one of these. I believe the new ball has cut down Wilson from a great hitter to just a fair one. On the other hand the difference in their hitting styles makes it certain that Hafey will not be so affected.

"In the second place to bring Wilson here and make him a factor on the ball club would tend to disorganize our happy family. We have a great spirit on our team and we mean to keep it."

And this again forced the pop-eyed listener to ask for the specifications of the idea. It appears that Wilson, drawing a salary of $35,000 or somewhere in that vicinity, if introduced into the Cardinal environment, would hardly have a tonic effect on the Redbird regulars, because most of the Redbirds draw far less than half the amount paid Wilson.

A $35,000 a year benchwarmer could hardly hope for anything but a Bronx cheer from the boys who had to do his work.

That's the theory any way.

Just for that watch Hack's smoke about July 1.

That No-Draw Rule.

CLEVELAND'S boxing commissioners have an idea. This is not advanced as a "believe it or not" contribution. The interesting and unusual point is that the idea has merit.

The commission has gone on record a favoring a rule to make "draw" decisions impossible. In other words, there must be a winner and a loser in every bout.

This may result in some fine hair-splitting. But it will also eliminate a lot of those necking contests.

The commission's idea is that when boxers find that one or the other must lose, it will make them work harder to obviate such a setback.

It seems to be logical. Better still would be a rule making it a foul, subject to disqualification if either fighter laid a glove on his opponent for any other purpose than to sock him. That would force a fighter to learn legitimate boxing defense and also how to stop the other fellow under penalty of being knocked out himself.

As long as fighters can lead and fall in, the boxing game for the most part will continue to be just a ho, hum pastime.

Not So Hot.

MAXIE OSENBLOOM is a champion, but he can't capitalize it for important money. In Hollywood, recently, the light-heavyweight king drew only $4700. And strange as it seems, unless Maxie was a different fighter in that show, the "gate" was probably about $4000 more than Rosenbloom's act was worth.

Maxie is one of those dancing fauns. He slaps, cuffs and gyrates around the ring employing mean, difficult and disconcerting tactics, which seldom destroy the opponent, but always wreck the temper of the onlookers.

The time has come when the boxers, to meet competition with the wrestlers, must either go definitely into the show business or else start fighting along lines that the public wants to see.

Any crowd, educated to fights or not, knows when two boys are in earnest. Under ordinary conditions no two boys, not given to holding and clinching, will be able to fight ten whole-hearted rounds without one or the other falling from exhaustion or a kayo wallop.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 3—One of the finest young amateur fighters boxing has produced in years—Irish Eddie Flynn of New Orleans—is in town again to show the boys what he can do when he has both hands to work with.

A few months ago, Eddie slipped away from his janitor's job at the Knights of Columbus Hall in the Crescent City, away from his dental studies at Loyola University, and headed for the national amateur championships here. He brought along a brother, Dennis, who also fights, slings sodas on a Canal street corner eight hours a day, and studies law at Loyola.

Eddie, 21 years old, won the welterweight championship, although he hurt his right hand badly knocking a fellow over in his first bout. Brother Dennis, 20, didn't do quite so well. He lost out in the final in the 160-pound class. But between them they provided the most colorful features of the show.

Of the two, Eddie is by far the more experienced and tonight in Madison Square Garden, with his right hand well again, he will box Cesare Desio, a commercial student from Milan, in the 147-pound class of the international team series between United States and Italian amateurs. In 110 amateur fights Eddie has never been defeated. Now that the right hand is fit he plans to knock Signor Desio out.

The Flynn boys, in their first appearance here, amazed the critics with the fluency of their left hands. It was considered a shame that Eddie, the outstanding warrior of the pair, couldn't do much with his right. The answer, of course, as Eddie explains it, was that his right hand was broken.

Since his showing here, Flynn has been besieged with professional offers, but he is goin gto stick to janitoring and his dental studies. He wants to win the Olympic welterweight championship in 1932. Then if some manager still wants him, he'll turn to fisticuffs in earnest until the office equipment, the drills and extractors have been paid for.

SAID France to Texas, "I'll be frank,
Your freight from here you'll have to yank.
You and your gang may sing and dance
Upon the boat, but not in France."
Said Tex to France: "Oui, oui, Messieur;
I take it you don't want us here,
And so, as long as you insist,
I'll scratch you off my sucker list."

Show Boat.

Suggest that Texas Guinan come back home, charter a Mississippi River steamboat and give entertainments on the Texas deck.

Louis Schneider got $29,500 for risking his life and winning the 500-mile Decoration day automobile race. Which is considerably less than the loser of the Schmeling-Stribling match will get without risking anything. Not to mention the difference of time involved.

Capital Punishment.

"Lawyer Sings to Jury, Woman Is Acquitted."

Well, a juryman can stand so much. Besides, they only get $3 a day.

Bee-have.

An ordinance prohibiting the keeping of bees in St. Charles will be considered by the City Council Monday night.—News item.

THE point of this I fail to see;
The problem is a deep one;
Although I never kept a bee,
I'd rather see than keep one.

Although the Redbirds managed to wangle five out of six from the Reds, they were fully cognizant of the fact that they had been in six ball games. Not that the Reds arose to superior heights, but rather the Birds descended to their level.

Be that, however, as it may,
With boots galore and a' that,
With five the Redbirds romped away,
And a game's a game for a' that.

Mayors 25, Governors 20.

"Twenty Governors in Session Discuss Taxation Problems."

While 25 Mayors are over in France discussing food and drink problems.

The popping of champagne corks at the visiting Mayors banquets makes a noise that echoes around the world. And a corking good time is being had by all except one or two.

How Many?

The Diesel engine in automobiles may solve the filling station problem. When you can travel 500 miles on $3.40 worth of oil why stay at home?

YOU'LL be skimming over highways
On a long and pleasant run,
And the answer to "how many?"
In the future will be none."

In short, the cost of oil will be so negligible that they'll have to turn all the filling stations into the new-fashioned corner saloons.

It being understood, of course, that nobody wants the old-fashioned corner saloon back again.

See where "Legs" Diamond has been pinched again for violating the pistol law. Some of these days that guy will go too far and spit on the sidewalk.

Redmond Golf Captain.

By the Associated Press.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., June 3.—William "Bill" Redmond of Joliet, Ill., was elected captain of Notre Dame's 1932 golf team at the second annual golf dinner last night. He succeeds Frank Beaupre of Detroit. Redmond won the Indiana State individual title last year and is one of the most consistent players on the squad. He will compete in the National Intercollegiate Golf Championship at Olympia Fields, Chicago, this month.

WYKOFF TO FACE FINE FIELD OF SPRINT ACES IN CHICAGO GAMES

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 3. — Knute Rockne once said his Notre Dame football teams "saved" Southern California for the union, but there appear to be no Rocknes around to stop the victorious sweep of the Trojan track stars.

Usually, the annual national collegiate track and field meet causes almost as much speculation over the probable winner as the Kentucky Derby, but not this year. Every track expert picks the Trojans to gallop away with the title for the second consecutive year at Stagg Field next Friday and Saturday. Their only differences in opinion are in the margin of victory.

A close sifting of past performances today indicated that the Trojans of brawn and speed would sweep through with four to six firsts and land enough point winners to score at least 40 points. Victories were anticipated for the men of Troy in the 100-yard dash, 440-yard run, the pole vault, broad jump, discus throw, javelin and possibly the shot put.

With the team title granted to the Trojans in advance, the second guessing revolved about the individual performances, notably the 100-yard dash in which Frank Wykoff of the Trojans will attempt to repeat his triumph of a year ago. While Wykoff won't have to face George Simpson, the Ohio flyer, again this year, he will be faced with plenty of competition by a field of 11 stars of great reputation. Eddie Tolan, Michigan's midnight express, whom he has defeated by narrow margins on two occasions, will finish his brilliant three years of competition for Michigan at the meet and is fired with the ambition not only to beat Wykoff but to equal or better the Trojan's world's record of 9.4. Tolan runs best on a steaming hot day and is hoping for plenty of heat when he faces Wykoff for the last line in a college meet.

Other contenders for Wykoff's crown in the "battle of the century" Saturday will be Ed Topping of Loyola University, New Orleans, who finished third to Wykoff in the event last year here; Glass of Oklahoma A. & M., who defeated Tolan at the Drake relays in a big upset, and Paul Swift, Washington State sophomore, who captured the century at the Kansas relays this spring. Other contenders, who have been timed this year in 9.8 or better, will be Sickle and Klaner of Kansas; Medley, Southwestern Teachers, Oklahoma; Hass, Minnesota; Conway, Iowa; Tierney, Marquette, and Baker, Oklahoma.

One big attraction without a Southern California complexion will be the hurdles, 220-yard and 120-yard sprints over the wooden barriers. World records will be threatened in these events, which will bring back Lee Sentman of Illinois and Jack Keller of Ohio State into two more duels. Sentman, who came back to tie the world's mark of 14.4 seconds in the Bi Ten meet over the 120-yard hig hurdle mark and who won the 22 yard low stick event last year i 23.2 ranks as a slight favorite.

By the Associated Press.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, June 3.—The Finnish runner, Lehtinen, bettered the best recorded mark for the mile and one-half run yesterday when he was timed in 6 minutes 42 1-10 seconds.

There is no recognized world's record for the "freak" distance of a mile and a half, but the A. A. U.'s athletic almanac lists Paavo Nurmi's 6:42 5-10 performance at Los Angeles, April 29, 1925, as the best record for the distance.

SEVEN M'KENDREE TRACK STARS TO GET LETTERS

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LEBANON, Ill., June 3.—The board of athletics of McKendree College announced today that only seven members of the track squad will be awarded letters for services during the current season. The number is the smallest ever granted to a cinder squad here.

Those to be granted a monogram are: Capt. William Saunders, Xenia; Al Nattas, Zeigler; Ray Sparlin, Flora; Harrison Hoffman, Carlyle; Frank Grachalla, Benld; Elmer Todd, Pleasant Hill, and Leon Church, Lebanon.

A twist of fate is that Dick Galloway, a member of the squad not on the list, failed to earn a monogram, although last week at Carbondale he leaped 5 ft. 10⅛ in. in the high-jump event, for a new McKendree all-time mark.

KAMM-FONSECA DEAL BENEFITED CLUBS INVOLVED, BABE RUTH SAYS

By Babe Ruth.

NEW YORK, June 3.— Iam going to make this article serve as an answer to some questions received in my fan mail this week. I do this because I believe the same questions may have come up in the minds of other fans who did not happen to ask about them. I have found that things which puzzle one baseball fan also puzzles many others.

Here are some questions which seem very timely:

Do you think the change in the baseball explains the batting slumps suffered this year by such hitters as Frankie Frisch, Tony Lazzeri, Frank O'Doul, Taylor Douthit and few others?

How did that trade by the Cleveland and Chicago clubs strike you, and who got the better of it?

RUTH

Will the resin ball make any difference with the hitting and the pitching in the American League?

Which league plays better ball, the National or the American?

Several other questions also concern some recent happenings, but they do not rate quite as important as these. Nor do I think the answers would interest so many people. So I'll just try to answer these four today, taking them in the order as above.

I do not think that the change in the cover or stitching of the ball is the answer for the hitting slumps by players accustomed to hit much higher. The ball may have some effect on reducing averages but I am inclined to think that an old-fashioned hitting slump answers for each of the players named in the question. You never know when these slumps are coming. They may hit you in April or May just the same as in August or September, and I think these players are simply victims of an early slump. I expect to see all of them make up for it later and hit close to their normal figures. Don't forget that Al Simmons, Mickey Cochrane, Joe Cronin, Averill, Fonseca and a few more have been pounding the same ball that other American Leaguers have to swing against. And Roettger, Artlett and Hornsby have done pretty well with the National League ball.

I would say that the Cleveland-Chicago trade looks like a good one for both clubs. You can't always figure trades, you know, by the talent passing from one club to another. Getting what is needed is more important than what you give. The Indians were badly in need of a third baseman and Willie Kamm fills that one need very well. Chicago could spare Kamm and wanted more hitting power. Lew Fonseca is a powerful hitter but he was only an extra infielder with Cleveland last year and figured to be the same this year when Eddie Morgan was able to play. He adds a real punch to the Chicago batting order and can plan a good game at first or second base. The trade gives each club something that it needed badly(without taking anything that could not be spared.

May Help Some Hurlers.

Now about the resin ball. I can't figure that it will make much difference, but it may with some pitchers. Using resin is not entirely new in our league any way. There was a rule against the use of the resin bag behind the pitchers' box, as the National League has used it for years, but some of the pitchers kept resin dust in their trousers' pocket. All they had to do was put their hand in the pocket to get some resin. Now they can get it in another way but I can't see that there will be much difference. Some pitchers do not use it anyway, and they may try it, now that the ban has been lifted. You know the club batting marks for the National League last season did not indicate that the resin helped the pitchers so very much.

The fourth question about which is the better league, the National or the American, is an old timer. I have been running into it for years. And my idea on the subject have not changed. I have always contended that the two major leagues balance up quite evenly. New players are coming and others going all the time. No doubt there are years when one league gets the better players from the minors, but in the long run this will even up. The American League may have the outstanding pitchers in one season, as it did last year when Grove, Ferrell, Lyons and Earnshaw were the only major league pitchers to win more than 20 games. But there are seasons when the National League has better pitchers. So it goes with hitters, infielders, outfielders, catchers and base runners. I still think it is a toss up in strength.

OKLAHOMA TO OPPOSE ARMY IN FIRST GAME IN COLLEGE POLO TOURNEY

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 3.—With the University of Arizona still a doubtful starter, the draw and schedule for the intercollegiate polo championships have been announced by the United States Polo Association.

Pending a decision as to whether the rule providing that each team must use its own mounts will be waived in Arizona's case, the draw was made on the basis of six entries—Yale, Pennsylvania Military College, University of Oklahoma, Army, Harvard and Princeton. If Arizona is permitted to enter the draw will be revised.

The opening game of the tournament will pit Yale against Penn Military, June 13. Oklahoma will play Army and Harvard will battle Princeton on June 15. The winner of the Yale-Penn military game will encounter the Harvard-Princeton survivor, June 18, with the final June 20 between the victors of this encounter and that between Army and Oklahoma.

STIFF MUSCLES FORCE SCHMELING TO REST

By the Associated Press.

CONNEAUT LAKE PARK, Pa., June 3.—Stiff muscles, induced by golf and by heavy workouts last week-end, kept Max Schmeling idle at his training camp yesterday. The heavyweight, preparing for a title bout with W. L. (Young) Stribling at Cleveland July 3, will resume sparring operations today.

MANLEY O. HUDSON STRESSES NEED OF WORLD VIEWPOINT

"COLLEGES SHOULD PRODUCE CITIZENS"

Says Furtherance of "International Community" Is Being Forced by Needs, Not Altruism.

By the Associated Press.

COLUMBIA, Mo., June 3.—A world outlook for citizens of America, as necessary for America's own interests, was advocated by Dr. Manley O. Hudson of the Harvard Law School, in the eighthy-ninth commencement address at the University of Missouri here today.

"A training is needed for the role of citizen in this modern world," Dr. Hudson said, "and it is not the least important of the missions of a university that it should produce citizens with some understanding of the world in which we live, and of the extent to which it has changed in the course of recent times."

Education Essential.

Although he gave warning against too blind a belief that educated men will always prevail in councils concerning public affairs, Dr. Hudson stated there can be no doubt that education is essential to citizenship in a modern world.

He outlined the changes that have taken place in society during recent times, and spoke of the adjustments that modern living requires.

"None of the recent changes seems more significant than the extension of the area within which we have to live our daily lives," he said. "Our effort now has to be directed with reference to conditions in a larger part of the world than that of any previous generation."

It was inevitable, the speaker said, that men should search for new political conceptions and organizations with which to solve the problems of the growing world community. He told of the first league among nations, the International Telegraphic Union, organized in 1865, and others which followed.

Needs, Not Altruism Basis.

"Such agencies were founded," Dr. Hudson said, "not on any altruistic impulse, not on any ideal of human solidarity, but on the very pressing needs of a workaday world."

In the more clearly political field, a shocking experience seems to have been a necessary prelude to organization for common action, he continued.

"Only the tragedies of the war disclosed to various peoples the extent their interdependence made such organization necessary," he said. "If the war had ended without that disclosure, its sacrifices might all have been in vain. It must always remain to the credit of the American people that we insisted that it should not end so."

Dr. Hudson's own experiences with the work of the League of Nations enabled him to speak on that subject with authority, and he called it "our greatest contribution to the future," declaring that the League of Nations has come into the world to stay.

"Now it is in this organized world of states that we must live our lives as citizens of one state," he said.

"We cannot hope to discharge our duties to the nation of which we are citizens unless we can keep it in harmonious relations with other nations which contribute to the fullness of our daily lives.

See U. S. as State of World.

"I would place before you no vague ideal of world citizenship. That is not a doctrinaire internationalism. It is not even a plea for world peace. I am not urging any mitigation of the loyalty which each of us feels toward his own community, nor of the patriotism which all of us have for our own country. I am suggesting that we cannot play our role as citizens in this age unless we see our own country as a part of a larger world, and unless we see that world as a whole society.

"Nor is it an abstract attitude that I would commend. On the citizen's conception of his world will depend his attiude toward such strictly national questions as agricultural relief and the tariff; on it will depend, also, our country's attitude toward the organization of the world for co-operation and peace. If we would prefer to be ruled by the past, if we would listen to the sneers of a yellow press, if we would insist on the tenets of an exaggerated nationalism, we shall neither prove to be useful to America nor shall we be sure of serving the interests of our own local communities."

Dr. Hudson, Wilber A. Cochel, editor of the Weekly Kansas City Star, and Dr. William B. Smith, retired university professor, were awarded the honorary degree of doctor of laws at the commencement exercises. All three recipients at one time were connected with the university. Dr. Hudson and Dr. Smith as members of the faculty, and Cochel as a student. Dr. Hudson and Cochel were born in Missouri.

FORMER CITY OFFICIAL SUES UTILITY MAN FOR SLANDER

Youngstown Ex-Traction Commission Seeks $100,000 From Ohio Edison Officer.

By the Associated Press.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 3. — Garry Engle, former City Traction Commissioner, yesterday filed a suit for slander against Raleigh Reese, Ohio Edison Co. officer, asking for $100,000 damages for "false and malicious statements."

Engle's suit charges that Reese, in the presence of John W. Rowland, president of the Mahoning National Bank, and other persons, asserted that "Engle is going up and down the street showing 'a contract that he signed himself, and I'm going to send him to the penitentiary."

During a grand jury investigation of utilities affairs here it was alleged that Engle had a contract with the former Pennsylvania and Ohio Power and Light Co. for services to be rendered while Engle was Traction Commissioner. Engle testified for two days before the grand jury, but the grand jury's report, which said the Ohio Edison Co. and its predecessors had unduly influenced certain city officials, did not mention him.

Reese, who is assistant to A. C. Blinn, vice president and general manager of the Ohio Edison, declined to comment on the suit. Blinn, in a letter to the City Council several months ago, charged that Engle was demanding $150,000 from the company.

F. M. M'DAVID PRESIDENT OF MISSOURI U. CURATORS

By the Associated Press.

COLUMBIA, Mo., June 3.—Members of the Board of Curators of the University of Missouri, meeting here yesterday, named former State Senator F. M. McDavid of Springfield, president of their body to succeed Judge James E. Goodrich of Kansas City. H. J. Blanton of Paris was named vice president, and R. B. Price of Columbia, treasurer of the University of Columbia, and E. J. Campbell, treasurer of the School of Mines at Rolla. Members of the executive board and executive committee were re-elected.

After being entertained at dinner by Walter Williams, president of the university, the curators joined him and members of the faculty last night as hosts to a reception in honor of members of the university graduating class and commencement week visitors.

Maj. Jordan L. Mott Dies.

By the Associated Press.

ROSEBURG, Ore., June 3.—Maj. Jordan Lawrence Mott, 50 years old, of Hollywood, Cal., died at his summer camp at Steamboat Station near here today. Mott became ill last fall while engaged in a radio lecture campaign in behalf of the Sportsmen's Associations of California favoring game legislation. Mott was born in New York in 1881, the son of J. Matchless economy with six-cylinder smoothness

The New Chevrolet Sport Coupe

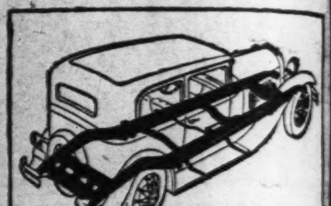
"Better than 20 miles to the gallon." "Its cost-per-mile is the lowest of any car." "Never have to add oil between crank-case changes." "Drove from Ohio to California on a repair expense of $1.05." "It just runs and runs and runs."

CHEVROLET In each day's mail, the Chevrolet Motor Company and its dealers receive comments like these from Chevrolet owners. Some of them tell about the unusual gasoline and oil mileage they are getting from the Chevrolet six-cylinder engine. Some praise the way their cars keep running, day after day, month after month, without need for adjustments or repair. Others remark about the low cost of Chevrolet standardized service. Still others pay tribute to Chevrolet's remarkably long life.

Yet more impressive even than these are the unsolicited reports that come from leading American business firms who use large fleets of Chevrolets. These firms keep daily account of the money spent on their cars in the field. Their records show that Chevrolet costs less for gasoline, oil, upkeep and service than any other automobile! And this matchless economy has been achieved with no sacrifice of smooth, quiet, powerful performance—no sacrifice of appearance or comfort—no sacrifice of dependability and long life. The reasons for this unusually economical operation are as follows:

1. Efficient Engine Design. Every feature of the Chevrolet motor that affects fuel and oil economy has been the subject of specially intensive study and development by Chevrolet engineers. The result is that 20 miles to the gallon of gasoline is a common experience with owners. And the small amount of oil used is equally impressive.

2. Modern Chassis Design. An important reason for Chevrolet's day-after-day dependability lies in its modern chassis design. For example: The long, heavy, 152-inch frame supports the body rigidly throughout its length. And Chevrolet's six-cylinder motor minimizes the wearing vibration that can lead to so many repair bills.



Chevrolet's 152" frame is rigidly braced and supports the body throughout its entire length, effectively resisting road shock

3. Excellence of Manufacture. As just one example of the extreme care used in building the Chevrolet Six—pistons are matched to within ½ ounce and individually fitted to less than three thousandths of an inch clearance. Piston pins, too, are allowed to vary in size only ³⁄₁₀ of one thousandth of an inch and are individually fitted to their bushings. As a result of precision like this, thousands of Chevrolet owners have traveled 20,000 miles or more without having their motors opened for major servicing.

4. High-Quality Materials. Chevrolet rear axle gears are built of costly 3½ per cent nickel steel. Pistons are bushed with high-grade bronze. Transmission gears and springs are made of chrome-vanadium steel. Brake linings are a special high-quality moulded type. Obviously, a car made of such fine materials must cost less to maintain.

Chevrolet's long lived, grey iron pistons are built within close limits of precision, and are bushed with high-grade bronze

5. Economical Nationwide Service. Over 10,000 authorized Chevrolet service stations offer extremely low flat-rate charges on both labor and genuine parts. No charge is made for any of the parts or the labor involved in any replacements made under the terms of Chevrolet's liberal Owner's Service Policy.

If you want a car that will serve you through the years at the lowest cost, choose a Chevrolet Six. In addition to all the basic economies above—Chevrolet offers the extra advantage of one of the lowest delivered prices on the market. And this cost may be spread over a period of many months by the liberal G.M.A.C. plan.

Chevrolet's Owner's Service Policy is the most liberal ever offered in connection with a low-priced car

Caulfield on Utilities.

Gov. Caulfield of Missouri, dur- g a round table discussion fol- wing yesterday's addresses, ex- sed disagreement with Gov. chot's suggestion that regula- n of public utilities should be ken over by the Federal Gov- nment. Caulfield said he agreed e growth of utility monopolies s of great concern to the Amer- n people but he added he did t believe the Federal Government the past had demonstrated its ility to handle the utility prob- n any better than it had been ndled by the states.

Pollard, Virginia; Henry S. Caulfield, Missouri; Harry G. Leslie, Indiana, treasurer, and former Gov. Cary A. Hardee, Florida, secretary.

Commenting on the conference today, Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York said, "Once again the Governors' conference has proved its value. This conference, 23 years old, still finds its chief function, not as a new branch of government, not as a forum for obtaining political publicity, but as a round table for the interchange of views between chief executives who have common or similar problems."

Vauclain Charges Pinchot Misrepresents Pennsylvania Conditions.

PHILADELPHIA, June 3. — Samuel M. Vauclain, chairman of the Baldwin Locomotive Works board, has telegraphed all Governors of the United States that Gov. Pinchot in his address before the Governor's conference misrepresented conditions in Pennsylvania.

The message said: "Responsible citizens throughout Pennsylvania deplore the misleading statements made by Gov. Pinchot in his address at the Governor's conference at French Lick, Ind. If correctly reported, many of his assertions are without foundation.

"It is not true that the public utilities of Pennsylvania seek to dominate the Government of this State. The House Investigation Committee which the Governor named and dominated found as indicated by its report no evidence to support his charges. The Legislature properly refused the Governor authority to hire and fire Public Service Commissioners at his sole discretion. His unjustified attack upon the party organization which he represented at the last election, his indifference to the rulings of the Supreme Court, and his desire to have the power of a dictator have naturally reduced his influence throughout Pennsylvania and have already prevented the passage of constructive amendments to the public service laws of this state that all interests have agreed are desirable.

"It may or may not be true that Gov. Pinchot has presidential aspirations. But it is hoped that thoughtful people throughout the United States will understand his so-called program of action will endanger constitutional government and also delay the return of prosperity."

La Follette Declares Depression Should Be Labeled 'Made in U. S.'

Senator Thinks Start for Recovery Must Come Through Congressional Action Rather Than Private Initiative.

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Depression in this country deserves to bear the label, "made in the United States," in the opinion of Senator La Follette (Rep.), Wisconsin. He believes that greed and short-sightedness of American business leaders are chiefly to blame for present conditions, and that the start toward recovery probably must come through governmental action rather than through private initiative.

"It seems clear to me that financial and industrial leadership has failed in this crisis," he told the writer. "Our business magnates have made a mess of their job and it appears once more that the people must look to Congress for relief."

Senator La Follette is generally recognized as the coming leader of the progressives on economic problems. During the last two years he has devoted much of his time to the study of industrial rehabilitation and unemployment.

In seeking his opinions on the causes and possible cures of depression, the writer acquainted him with the views previously expressed in the Post-Dispatch by Dean Donham of the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration, and by Senator Couzens (Rep.), Michigan. In the main he agreed with them that our depression is home-made, and not the result of world depression, and that our recovery does not depend on world recovery.

The A B C's of Economics.

"Since approximately 90 per cent of our production has been consumed at home, it seems axiomatic that an adequate market for our products can only be provided by maintaining the consuming power of the great mass of our own people," said the Wisconsin progressive. "If industry is to recover any time soon, it must, in my judgment, recognize the necessity of two things: a larger division of the profits of industry with labor, and a sound program for the rehabilitation of agriculture.

"These things are so elemental that it sound almost childish to repeat them, yet these are the A B C's of economics that our industrial and financial leaders must learn before the country can return to prosperity—first, that the workers and farmers comprise the vast bulk of the purchasing power; and second, that they cannot purchase unless they receive a fair share of what they produce.

"It is well known that during the years which preceded the crash, the increase in workers' wages did not keep pace with the increased value of what they produced. At the same time, improved farming methods resulted in greater productivity per man, but the farmer found himself compelled to sell his produce in an unprotected market, while purchasing his necessaries in a protected market. Thus, all along the line there was a widening spread between the producing power and the purchasing power of the great bulk of the people."

For Tariff Reduction.

Both Dean Donham and Senator Couzens had emphatically declared that the importance of exports had been greatly overestimated, and that the loss of export trade in recent months had not been a vital factor in the depression. What did Senator La Follette think about that?

"I can't go that far," he replied. "Naturally, our principal market will always be the domestic market, and our first concern must always be to strengthen and cultivate it. At the same time, it has been estimated that our normal export trade absorbs 10 per cent of our production, and I have the impression that this 10 per cent probably plays a larger part in keeping our facilities in operation than the bare figures would indicate. It is conceivable to me that this 10 per cent might mean the difference between good times and hard times.

"Consequently, in suggesting measures which the Federal Government might take to assist in the revival of business, I have always advocated a reduction of the inordinately high duties in the Hoover-Grundy tariff, as a means of reviving our foreign tade. I believe that such action on our part would be followed by a lowering of the tariff walls which have been erected by European countries, partly in reprisal against us, and partly in reprisal against each other."

Shorter Week, Same Pay.

La Follette repeated Couzens' assertion that widespread fear of unemployment and wage-cutting among workers who still have their jobs has resulted in curtailed buying, and that the restoration of security is indispensable to a resumption of normal buying on their part.

"I believe that a sound system of unemployment insurance is the proper answer to that phase of the situation," he said. "Sensible workers are not going to spend above their bare necessaries as long as they are threatened with loss of work or reduced wages, and bankers who talk about reducing wages or dividing the present total wages among a larger number of workers, are simply intensifying the panic spirit. What they ought to do is shorten the work week without reducing wages."

Declaring, however, that he expected no such display of "enlightened generosity," the Wisconsin Senator reiterated his conviction that any start toward business recovery must result from political action, and, more particularly, from congressional action. Hence he favors an immediate special session.

His Program for Congress.

In addition to reducing some of the present tariff rates, Congress could, he believes, improve the situation through the following specific measures:

1. Adoption of a great public works program, to provide a substantial number of jobs, stimulate employment in other quarters, and preserve the present wage standards.
2. Afford financial assistance to cities, counties and states in relieving human suffering.
3. Increase the inheritance tax and the tax on large incomes, to provide funds for the foregoing purposes, and to meet the present deficit in the Federal Treasury.
4. Enact legislation to enable agriculture to handle its surpluses, through the equalization fee or the export debenture.
5. Create a national economic council to provide comprehensive information and scientific advice in stabilizing industry and agriculture.

Did the Senator believe there was a chance that President Hoover would call a special session for those purposes? He did not.

30,000-YEAR-OLD SKULL OF A CHILD FOUND IN PALESTINE

Discovery Considered Evidence of Wide Dispersion of European Ancestral Race.

By the Associated Press.

JERUSALEM, June 3.—A discovery expected to prove of great importance in throwing light on prehistoric man was made by the young American archeologist, Theodore McCown, at Wady Moughara Athlit yesterday.

It was a child's skull of the Mousterian age, of the same type as the "Galilee skull" found on the shore of the Sea of Galilee in 1925.

The Mousterian man, who succeeded the Neanderthal man, is generally regarded as the ancestor of the modern European type, and the Galilee find was the first indication that the distribution extended as far as Palestine.

The present skull is estimated to be 30,000 years old.

The original "Galilee skull" was found in a cave at Tabgha, near Tiberias, among Mousterian flint deposits. The discovery was by Francois Turville-Petre, British archeologist.

It was characterized by a prodigious development of the supraorbital prominences and by a depressed forehead, representing something near to the skull of a chimpanzee. It also conformed closely, archeologists said, to the skull of the Neanderthal man.

SAYS ENGLISH MUST CHOOSE BETWEEN LEAGUE AND EMPIRE

Lord Beaverbrook Declares Unity With Europe Will Lower Nation's Living Standard.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, June 3.—Lord Beaverbrook, in a letter to the London News-Chronicle yesterday declared the League of Nations is rapidly becoming a United States of Europe and that "our choice must be between Europe and the empire."

"If we throw in our lot with Europe," he said, "we must be content to se the standard of living of our population fall to the European level. If, instead, we achieve a closer unity with the rest of the empire, we can raise our standard of living to the level enjoyed by the dominions in an economic organization comparable with the United States of America."

The newspaper replied that Beaverbrook's policy "whatever may be its author's aim, destroys the only effective barrier against war that exists at present.

BRITISH ELECTORAL REFORM BILL PASSED BY COMMONS

Measure Expected to Revolutionize Voting System Is Sent to Lords.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, June 3.—The House of Commons last night, by a vote of 278 to 228, passed on third reading the electoral reform bill, which is expected to revolutionize the British election system. The bill was sent to the House of Lords.

Under its provisions voters would register their first and second preference for members of Parliament in constituencies where three candidates were running. If the leading candidate then did not poll a clear majority over his two opponents the second preferences would be examined and distributed between the two leading candidates in determining the winner.

The system was designed to bring the number of members of each party into Commons in accord with the number of votes cast for each party throughout each country as a whole.

DIVERGENT VIEWS ON MOTOR TRAFFIC FILED WITH I. C. C.

Railway Men Ask for Investigation of Working Conditions on Bus and Truck Lines.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—A variety of opinions on regulation of highway motor transportation was presented to the Interstate Commerce Commission yesterday in a series of briefs in connection with the inquiry designed to develop recommendations to Congress.

Railroad employes, the State Railroad Commission of Iowa, the Railway Express Agency, the Western Traffic Executive Committee, the Colonial Navigation Co., the St. Louis-San Francisco Railway and the Interstate Motor Carriers' Association were among those filing briefs.

The railroad employes through the Railway Labor Executives Association, an organization of the heads of railroad labor unions and brotherhoods, asked the commission to consider the conditions under which motor truck and bus employes work, and to remove restrictions from railroads that they might compete freely on the highways.

The Interstate Motor Carriers said that to regulate interstate common carrier busses and trucks would force a monopoly, restrict development of highway transportation and make the interstate common carrier truck "the helpless prey of the private carrier and the contract and privately owned truck."

The Iowa Board of Railroad Commissioners urged regulation of interstate bus and truck traffic by the Interstate Commerce Commission co-operating with state commissions but with the right of state bodies to regulate intra-state traffic unabridged.

The Railway Express Agency contended "regulation of rates and service and adequate payment in the form of taxes by the motor carrier for the special use made by him of public highways and for the general support of Government are the first steps necessary as a legal basis for the effectual coordination of motor and rail transportation."

The Western Traffic Executives Committee said:

"Unless we are prepared to say the scheme of regulation embodied in the Interstate Commerce act which has developed over a period of more than 40 years is a failure, it is difficult to see how the extension of the plan for regulation of motor carriers can be viewed as anything but a step forward in providing the American public with the best and most reliable transportation service available."

The St. Louis-San Francisco, which recently announced that cut rate passenger fares had failed to produce desired results, said some form of relief for the railroads was "imperative."

Tariff of 15 Cents a Pound Except on Exemptions.

By the Associated Press.

OTTAWA, June 3.—Officers of the Department of National Revenue said yesterday they will consider each magazine coming into Canada and decide which shall be exempted from the duty of 15 cents a pound to be imposed under the new tariff. The duty goes into effect July 1.

The magazines to be exempted as defined by Premier R. B. Bennett will be educational, scientific and religious.

AROUND WORLD IN OPEN BOAT

SYDNEY, New South Wales, June 3.—Two Swedish voyagers who are making their way around the world in an open boat were encountered yesterday by the steamer Katao about 200 miles off the New South Wales coast.

The Katao talked with one of the men, who asked that a post card be sent back to Sweden. They left Sweden two years ago, he said, crossed the Atlantic and entered the Pacific through the Panama Canal, continuing by way of the New Hebrides. Ships' officers did not learn the men's names except that the last name of one of them was Benssen.

Veterans' Loans Total $1,098,947,000 — Increases in Construction Work and Farm Relief Cited.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—The administration expects the national debt to be increased by $500,000,000 and the Treasury deficit to total $900,000,000 or $950,000,000 at the close of the fiscal year, June 30.

The condition of the Government's finances was attributed in a White House statement yesterday to the business depression. A decline in Treasury receipts from taxes and customs was caused, it said, by the economic situation. On the other hand, it added, unusual expenditures for construction work, agricultural relief and veterans' services amounting to more than $500,000,000 in excess of those of the last fiscal year placed a drain on the Treasury.

The announcement was made after President Hoover conferred with the Cabinet. During the conference, Secretary of Agriculture Hyde informed the Chief Executive his department would save $11,000,000 this fiscal year and $20,000,000 next year, largely from unused relief funds.

At the same time, Mr. Hoover invited Secretary of the Navy Adams and high naval officials to his camp at Rapidan, Va., over the

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Mr. Hoover at Valley Forge.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

PRESS dispatches tell us that President Hoover's Memorial day speech, with its Valley Forge hyperbole, was lustily applauded.

Unfortunately, Valley Forge of revolutionary times was not embarrassed with a surfeit of food, clothing, fuel and other necessities which make for material comfort. Had it been thus, the despairing Continentals would not for long have remained hungry, cold and ragged. Neither did Washington address them in terms to-wit: "My fellow citizens—My General and Colonels, who live in comfortable quarters and draw rations which would supply a regiment, tell me that your discomfort is chiefly psychological. We will sit tight and do nothing. Perhaps by next winter conditions will have changed for the better. I have ordered Von Steuben to cease drilling and have dismissed the General Staff. For my part, I shall leave for Mount Vernon and go fishing."

And where, by the way, is the Washington who will lead us out of the slough of economic despond?

H. B. WINKELER.

An Amendment to Decatur's Phrase.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

WITH deference to the ultra-patriot, Stephen Decatur, the weekly magazine which editorially adopts his best-known phrase, and to all others who believe in a patriotism that excludes individual thought and opinion, I submit: "May my country always be right, but if wrong, first set her right, then stay with her until the end."

No man, if right, can support a wrong cause or country. No patriot, if true, could support his country in a wrong course and justify himself with the creditable but undiscerning devotion given voice in Decatur's phrase, "but right or wrong, my country."

Opposes Federal Gasoline Tax.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

THE editorial in the Post-Dispatch concerning the possibility of a Federal gasoline tax was timely.

Motorists and commercial users of gasoline are now paying to the various states sufficient tax on this commodity. It is possible to ride a good horse to death, and Secretary Mellon can do better than propose a further levy on automobile ownership. Maybe he got his cue from Philip Snowden, England's treasury guardian, who recently increased the gasoline tax in that country. If so, let him first take cognizance of what the British impose on the wealthier classes in the form of income taxes.

The United States is not yet so hard ridden for measures to bring in added revenue that it must resort to levying an extra burden on a source of income that has already contributed more than a fair share to the progress of the nation. The separate state governments should take up the cudgels in their own defense at the first move by the Federal administration in this direction.

Snowden's Land Tax.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

CHANCELLOR SNOWDEN'S budget has set in motion an economic thought that will go around the world. Taxing the idle land into use means employment for idle men of England. He has found the key that will open opportunities for all to make a living there.

The Lords would prefer any other kind of tax than a land value tax, and their opposition to it will help enlighten the people on its importance.

The summary by Harlan Eugene Read of what other countries have done to cure unemployment by a tax on land values was well done.

Is Disappointed With Coolidge Articles.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

ANYBODY can relate the obvious, but for this simple little feat Coolidge gets the prize.

The recent article in the Post-Dispatch, reprinted from the New Yorker, concerning the former President's daily column, was a revelation of the huge financial returns that a national character can obtain for the use of his name. And all for a few words of comment on the news of the day.

What a glorious opportunity for service Coolidge is missing by his policy of accepting things as they are. Evidently he is thinking first and always of the money his writing brings in. Certainly little time or effort is given to the editorial content of his daily articles, for any reflection of such expenditure is notably absent when one reads them.

Such is the way of Coolidge. It must be much less tiresome to glance over the newspapers and pick out a subject that will make a nice little article of about 200 words, than it would be to give thought to the real issues of the day. This policy denotes that our only living ex-President is perfectly willing to leave constructive thinking to others, and continue his habit of never initiating a measure that history can record for the admiration of future generations.

Yes, the Coolidge article is a disappointment, and from this time on it will be easy to point out one man who is being grossly overpaid. It all makes one wonder what the newspaper syndicates will get out of Hoover.

ROGERS SHERWOOD.

A VICTORY FOR FREE SPEECH.

By holding unconstitutional the Minnesota newspaper gag law, the United States Supreme Court reaffirmed the great democratic principle of freedom of the press. The decision was based on that clause of the fourteenth amendment, reading: "* * * nor shall any state deprive any person of life, liberty or property, without due process of law." It was the view of the court that a law authorizing a Judge to suppress by permanent injunction any publication he regarded as "malicious, scandalous or defamatory" infringed the liberty of the press, thus guaranteed. This means not only that the Minnesota law is dead, but that no other state may so restrain the press.

Passed in 1925 at the behest of a legislator who was being attacked by a fly-by-night publication known as the Duluth Rip Saw (the Rip Saw died before the law could be applied to it), the law was used in 1927 to suppress the Saturday Press of St. Paul. This was a weekly paper whose attacks on gambling, vice and gangsterism aroused considerable resentment among public officials charged with law enforcement. Judge Matthias A. Baldwin issued an injunction, without notice or hearing, prohibiting the publication of the Press. The complaint was brought by County Attorney Floyd B. Olson, who, in 1931, as Governor, asked the Legislature to repeal the law.

Twice the Supreme Court of Minnesota upheld the law, finding in it nothing repugnant either to the Federal or the Minnesota Constitution, though the latter declares: "The liberty of the press shall forever remain inviolate, and all persons may freely speak, write and publish their sentiments on all subjects, being responsible for the abuse of such right." The case was appealed to the Supreme Court by the Chicago Tribune and the American Newspaper Publishers' Association. The former's brief said: "The Minnesota State law appears to be the first attempt since the adoption of the Federal Constitution boldly and unblushingly to provide for suppression in advance of publication."

If the law had been upheld in the United States Supreme Court, it would mean that newspapers would be in danger of judicial censorship and that the press could no longer perform its most valuable function, namely, the free discussion and criticism of public affairs. At the time of the enactment of this law, we said: "To enjoin probable future crime is a tyrannical novelty, unknown to any previous period of our legal history. Heretofore we have relied solely on the punishment of completed offenses, the only course consonant with freedom and justice." We made the point that the libel laws already provide punishment for untruthful, malicious and scandalous charges, and that they constitute a sufficient curb on journalistic freedom. The New York Herald Tribune said: "If such a measure as the Minnesota muzzling law has neither state nor Federal check, the freedom of the press in this country is wide open to successful assault." "If the way is opened, as it is in this statute," pointed out the Kansas City Star, "for the shielding of political inefficiency, with the aid of a court of similar political complexion, the public clearly is left without recourse or protection." And the Houston Post-Dispatch predicted that "if the present tendency in the judiciary continues, in due course of time the newspapers will find themselves being edited from the bench."

In this case, as in the Indiana chain store, Bland-MacIntosh and other recent decisions, Chief Justice Hughes is found with Holmes, Brandeis and Stone in what has been termed the liberal wing of the court. Hughes' opinion is a masterful presentation of the principle of free press. Its reasoning derives intellectually from John Milton's Areopagitica and from Thomas Jefferson, who said, "Where the press is free, and every man able to read, all is safe." To this Hughes adds:

> Equally unavailing is the insistence that the statute is designed to prevent the circulation of scandal which tends to disturb the public peace and promote assaults and commission of crimes. Charges of reprehensible conduct, and in particular of official malfeasance, unquestionably create a public scandal, but the theory of the constitutional guaranty is that even a more serious public evil would be caused by authority to prevent publication.

BOOKSNEAVERY.

When in search of an epithet, it has become customary to hold a prize contest. The drys wanted one and got "scofflaw," but it has not yet crashed the dictionary or even stormed the citadels of slang. An organization of publishers, seeking a suitable appellation for those vile persons who borrow books and never take them home, recently concluded a similar contest. Their prize-winning noun was "booksneaf." This is supposed to fill the laggard borrower with shame by applying to him a term that sounds like "sneak" and "thief," uttered hurriedly. The word may serve the purpose of abating this great literary and social evil, but we fear it will be about as effective as was "scofflaw" in enforcing the eighteenth amendment. The winner gets a library of 50 volumes for thinking up this masterpiece, and we hope there are none of the loathsome species among his borrowing acquaintances. We fear he could never get back a favorite tome merely by waylaying the culprit and growling at him, "You old booksneaf!"

ST. LOUIS COUNTY'S GOOD ROADS.

Expenditure of the $10,000,000 in bonds voted by St. Louis County in 1928 for good roads, with the aid of certain additional funds of about $1,600,000 derived from the State, is giving the county an admirable system of highways. The scheme that has been followed, as a whole, tends to establish a series of major thoroughfares, uniting various sections that heretofore have had difficulty of mutual access. The layout has been considered generally from the standpoint of handling the traffic expeditiously and making it convenient to reach the main centers. The results indicate the dawn of a new day in the county, where roads in years past were improved only as political advantage dictated.

The county must not, however, reach the false conclusion that its job is done when the present fund is expended. The time already is at hand for widening the pavement on many principal highways, for building cutoffs and eliminating sharp corners. These were objects which could not be accomplished with the existing fund, unless the mileage of new pavement had been cut down. More money will be needed for these purposes, for building new roads and for converting more of the old cinder and dirt lanes. Road building in a growing community like St. Louis County is a never-ending task, but one that quickly pays for itself through the increase in land values and the transportation savings of the motoring public.

THE PRICE OF RECKLESS DRIVING.

In his instructions to the June grand jury, Judge Green referred to the 72 fatalities from automobile accidents since Jan. 1, as compared with 35 murders, or deaths from violence. He explained that in a motor fatality there must be more than mere negligence on the driver's part to constitute manslaughter; there must be the element of recklessness or disregard for the pedestrian's safety, and he remarked, as a matter of observation, that this recklessness is often present. If such cases are presented it is the jury's duty, he charged, to return indictments.

Thus in a few words Judge Green has strikingly stated the case of the public against the reckless motorist. It is to be hoped, too, the grand jury will literally carry out the instructions. Yet this is a problem which should be solved with prevention rather than punishment. It was prevention which the Automobile Club of Missouri undertook to invoke in the code it submitted to the Legislature. One of the proposed measures, the driver's license bill, was aimed at the driver whose recklessness, or disregard for human life, is a constant menace. That bill as drawn conformed to the traditional legal assumption of the accused's innocence until proved guilty. It gave everyone a certificate of competence which continued in effect until forfeited, when suspension of the driving privilege would follow for a fixed period.

It was an excellent bill, which would, it was said, have saved 200 lives annually in Missouri. The Legislature deliberately refused to pass it. By that refusal the Legislature will be morally responsible for more than 25 per cent of the automobile fatalities in this State during the ensuing two years, when the next Legislature will be asked to pass this fair and badly needed safety measure.

Meantime, Judge Green is to be commended for hammering home the fact that the reckless motorist is twice as deadly as the professional criminal.

PUTTING AN OLD ENEMY TO USE.

If many 15-year-old boys have the experience of Frederick Jean Thalinger of St. Louis, soap, the traditional thorn in boyhood's side, bids fair to become a boon companion. He has just been awarded first prize of $200 in the senior class of the national soap sculpture contest. One of his two creations—a blind broom vendor and a running rabbit—was adjudged the best among the entries of 1000 competitors whose ages ranged from 15 to 21 years. Lorado Taft, Gutzon Borglum, Leo Lentelli, Charles Dana Gibson and other distinguished sculptors and artists were the judges. All we have to say is that the world is certainly becoming a better place for boys when a fellow can take an old enemy like a cake of soap and by doing a little careful whittling earn enough to buy a pony and buggy, a couple of second-hand automobiles or whatever it is that boys want most nowadays.

FOUR UNDESIRABLE ALIENS.

At least one Russian is fervently grateful today that this country has no diplomatic relations with the Soviet. He is Antonin Tulinov, graduate of the Case School of Applied Science, who was scheduled for deportation after receiving his degree last week, on expiration of his student passport. Prison or execution awaited Tulinov at home, he pleaded, for he had worked against Communism. Our Government has no way of deporting anybody to Russia, so he will stay here, another "man without a country" added to the legion being created by the vagaries of immigration law enforcement.

Had Tulinov been an Italian, like the anti-Fascist Guido Serio, or a Japanese, like the Communist Sadaichi Kenmotsu, or a Chinese, like the radical Tao Hsuan Li, his plea would have been rejected, and he could have prepared himself for punishment at home for the political crime of belonging to the "outs." These three aliens have been sentenced to deportation to their homelands, though all volunteered to pay their own way elsewhere, and their appeals now are pending. The law must be rigidly observed, officialdom says, though the penalty be death for the men this country finds undesirable. The contrast between the mercy received by Tulinov and the harsh verdicts for the three others furnishes the reductio ad absurdum for the policies of our immigration service.

Of course, they're carrying their liquor well. What are the wines of France to men trained on "corn" and synthetic gin?

ON OUR OWN POWER.

Two men in whose judgment the public has confidence have been discussing business conditions. One is Senator Couzens of Michigan, who won his industrial spurs in the Ford Motor Co. The other is James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel Corporation. Both believe that this country can extricate itself from the depression on its own power.

Senator Couzens says we have gone crazy on exports. He insists that our home market, the greatest in the world, ought to be recognized and cultivated as such. Mr. Farrell fixes our quota of exports of farm and factory at 10 per cent. Both remark the increase in savings deposits. Mr. Couzens does not regard that as a hopeful sign. His explanation is that the 40,000,000 workers now employed are saving every nickel they can because they are fearful of the future. He argues that if fear could be removed and normal buying restored, we would be on our way back. The way to remove fear is for American industry to guarantee jobs and wages.

Mr. Farrell sees in our increasing savings a favorable symptom which he construes as "the power within ourselves to speed revival of business at home."

Both men, manifestly, agree on essentials. Carrying their comments forward to their logical conclusions, they both recognize the necessity of organizing and operating business on a scientific basis. The conviction of both that we inherently possess all the ingredients of permanent prosperity is heartening.

THE CIRCUIT ATTORNEY MAKES A BOOK.

What Liberalism in Politics Means

Maryland Governor defines liberalism as the critical, constructive spirit of modern science as applied to public affairs; a progressive, creative impulse, as opposed to complacent attitude of conservatism; differs from radicalism in trusting to evolutionary processes; hailed as power that can lead us out of present distress.

Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland in an Address on Collier's Radio Hour.

TODAY "liberalism" seems to be the conjure word of American politics. It seems to connote a certain measure of superiority, and so politicians attempt to appropriate it as descriptive of whatever their attitude may happen to be on whatever subject may happen to confront them.

Yet the term, liberalism, is entitled to better treatment and more respect. It ought to signify something of the spirit of faith and of the hope that heartens. Liberalism is essentially a state of mind, rather than a definite program or policy. It is the open mind. It does not advocate change for the sake of change nor hold that whatever is is wrong, any more than that whatever is is right. In the words of St. Paul, it would prove all things, but hold fast only to that which is good. It is quite as keen to keep what has stood the test of time and experience as to experiment with change.

Sound liberalism believes in the power of society to shape its destiny by the use of applied reason and intelligence. It has faith in the liberating power of knowledge and in the capacity of men to bring about change by the use of enlightened effort. One might say that it is the spirit of modern science applied to politics—the spirit that examines, criticises, experiments and then constructs. As contrasted with toryism or standpat conservatism, it must be regarded as a distinct force and as embodying a distinct political philosophy. To me it represents the progressive and creative impulse in politics. Its criticisms may sometimes be destructive, but its aspirations are always constructive.

It is a mistake to confuse liberalism with radicalism. Both may aspire to make this a better world in which to live, but there is no similarity in their methods of approach. Liberalism believes that the ills of the body politic, our manifest social and economic injustices and maladjustments, and the mistakes and defects of government will not cure themselves nor be cured by piling law upon law or converting government into an overloaded machine or an over-powered tyrant, but that these things can be cured only by the evolutionary processes of enlightened and constructive effort and leadership. It has faith in the sanity and common sense of the people. It fights ignorance and hypocrisy and intolerance, and holds that government was made for men and not men for govments. Its real strength lies in recognizing that its powers are limited and that its vitality depends on its responsiveness to the will of the people.

Liberalism does not always mean going forward. It often takes us back to fundamentals.

Look, for instance, at national prohibition—not at the hopes and high aims and distant dreams of the men and women who believed it heralded the dawn of a world reborn, but rather at its realities. These realities may conform to the conditions and needs of some sections and communities of the country, but in other sections and communities they have brought new forms of commercialized crime, gangsters and racketeers, and have even spotted the ermine of the judiciary itself.

I conceive of liberalism as a force broad enough and enlightened enough to retrace our country's steps to the harbor that should never have been left, and apply to this unhappy situation the formula of self-government which alone will solve the problems the eighteenth amendment has caused in almost every one of the diversified states of this diversified land.

Or again: With an overflow of goods from our factories and of produce from our fields creating a surplus which could be absorbed only through increasing our export trade, is it too much to hope that enlightened liberalism may some day take us back to the safe citadel of sound and non-discriminatory economics, and destroy this tariff wall which is bringing reprisals and retaliations from other nations whose trade we ought to have and whose good will should be an American asset?

And if times are hard and taxes high, if the grain surplus mounts and unemployment reaches new peaks, perhaps a new order of business statesmanship may realize that something is the matter with our economic structure when such things can be, and a liberalized industry may see the problem as one of its own. It may recognize that there should be an entente cordiale between government and business, but never an unholy alliance, and that our industrial system can do much by putting its own house in order instead of looking to government to police it or subsidize it or to cure the ills of its own making.

The past decade has witnessed the scramble for wealth and power and the growing indifference to the rights of others. It has seen success measured by the standard of money only.

The fact is that after the war we entered an era of money making and reckless spending, of credit and installment buying, and an age of paper fortunes. These brought overproduction, too much expansion, excessive inflation. All this overtaxed the world's capacity to consume. And then at last came inevitable reaction and crash.

I believe that in liberalism lies the remedy, but it must be a liberalism enlightened enough to see that further progress along mistaken lines always means danger or worse. What is wanted is a return to the truths which are fundamental, not only in government, but in business and industry as well, and in the contacts of our daily lives and in the homely virtues.

Let us realize that liberalism is the very opposite of intolerance and of dogmatic faith in the rightness of things as they are. Everyone who still believes that man is a living spirit made in the image of God, and who has faith in human institutions and in the inherent soundness of democracy and the inherent strength of the common man, every such one should approach his public and political duties girded with the armor of true liberalism. Its function is to point to a better world and lead the way.

PUBLIC LIBRARY CIRCULATION SETS NEW RECORD IN MARCH

Total for Fiscal Year Gains 110,797; Unemployment Given as One Reason for Increase.

The largest circulation for a single month in the history of the Public Library was that of last March, the library announces. In the fiscal year ending April 30 the library lent 3,584,506 boks, classified as 1,849,826 adult and 1,734,680 juvenile. The gain for the year of 110,797—100,241 adult and 10,556 juvenile—was attributed in part to unemployment, which led many persons to employ enforced leisure in reading. The actual increase was larger than the figures indicated, it was explained, for the reason that the renewal system was discarded at the beginning of

WASHINGTON, June

THE name of Newton D. Baker bob persistently in discussions of pr dential possibilities. Usually, it is acco panied with a shake of the head or expr sions of regret. Ohio is prolific as rega favorite sons, and Baker ardently ch pions an issue which is poor bait for electorate—our entry into the League Nations. Despite these things, howev Washington cannot forget the appeal Secretary of War under Wilson.

Recently, Baker appeared at the capi to testify at the War Policies Commissi hearings. His diminutive figure (he scarcely more than five feet tall) almost lost in the imposing witness ch but he surmounted all physical limitati with his testimony, which was refreshi sane and direct. The impression he was very much that described by G Pershing, whose first encounter with Secretary of War is detailed in the G eral's recent book on the World War. W the author had recovered from his ast ishment over the youth and stature of man charged with the task of mobilizing America, he noted with relief that the h of the War Department was a busin like, exceptionally capable executive.

PUBLIC LIBRARY CIRCULATION SETS NEW RECORD IN MARCH

Total for Fiscal Year Gains 110,797; Unemployment Given as One Reason for Increase.

The largest circulation for a single month in the history of the Public Library was that of last March, the library announces. In the fiscal year ending April 30 the library lent 3,584,506 boks, classified as 1,849,826 adult and 1,734,680 juvenile. The gain for the year of 110,797—100,241 adult and 10,556 juvenile—was attributed in part to unemployment, which led many persons to employ enforced leisure in reading. The actual increase was larger than the figures indicated, it was explained, for the reason that the renewal system was discarded at the beginning of the fiscal year. Formerly a book renewed at the end of 14 days counted as two books, but now books are issued for 28 days without renewal.

Borrowers' cards in force May 1 were 170,125, an increase of 3984 as compared with last year's figures; 61,395 cards were issued as compared with 60,660, and 58,176 new books were added to the library, increasing the collection to 794,540 volumes including 6281 books in Braille for the blind.

Circulation in the blind department showed a 32 per cent increase; adult travel books, 17 per cent, and adult biography, 6 per cent. Cabanne branch circulated 191,609 books, an increase of 14,464, larger than any other branch. Gravois Branch had the largest circulation of the four school branches—150,109 volumes, of which 96,617 were juvenile and 53,492 adult.

MANY STARS OF STAGE HERE FOR MUNY OPERA

Queenie Smith and Leonard Ceeley Among Those Arriving for Future Productions.

With one company playing in Municipal Opera, another rehearsing daily on the stage in Forest Park for the second show, "Street Singer," which opens next Monday night, and with the stars beginning to arrive for later productions there are more well known light opera and musical comedy artists in St. Louis at the present time than ever before in the history of the local stage.

The cast of "Three Little Girls," the current attraction in the park, is headed by Galdys Baxter, Nancy McCord, Evangeline Raleigh, Clifford Newdahl, Hal Forde and Harry Puck with many other lesser lights. Among other artists who have arrived here for coming shows are Queenie Smith, who will be the star of "Street Singer," Leonard Ceeley, last season's favorite who first will be seen in his old role of the South American gaucho in "Nina Rosa"; Greta Alpeter, Jack Sheehan, Doris Patston and Edward Nell Jr.

Guy Robertson, who with Ceeley was featured in the New York and Chicago productions of "Nina Rosa," will arrive next Sunday from Hollywood. Beginning with "Nina Rosa," Robertson and Ceeley will have the principal male roles for the season, while the majority of prima donna parts will be taken by Miss Gladys Baxter. Robertson was one of last season's favorites.

Queenie Smith, one of the foremost dancers, as well as comediennes of the American stage, is well known to St. Louis audiences. She was seen here first in "Helen of Troy, New York," some years ago, and reinforced her popularity in two visits as star in "Hit the Deck." Before she entered the musical comedy field she was solo danseuse of the Metropolitan Opera House, New York. "The Street Singer" has been her greatest Broadway success.

Greta Alpeter makes her Municipal Opera debut in "Music in May." She is a former grand opera singer, who after singing in France, returned to New York to become a favorite overnight in the revival of "Blossom Time" last season.

Edward Nell Jr. is remembered by St. Louis for his Francois Villon of "If I Were King," when that operetta was first presented here. He appears for the first time in Municipal Opera cast in "Music in May." Marice Christie, who will play many important roles in the course of the summer, is also understudy to the prima donna roles of the season.

BEFORE a trellis of early June roses in the garden of Sleepy Hollow, the country home of her mother near Hillsboro, Mo., Miss Alice Meier, daughter of Mrs. Adolphus G. Meier, 5161 Kensington avenue, will be married this afternoon at 5 o'clock to Charles Hartner Hurkamp Jr., Hempstead, Long Island, son of Charles Hartner Hurkamp of Charlottesville, Va.

The bridal party will proceed from the side entrance of the house through the garden to a temporary altar where the service will be read by the Rev. Dr. Karl Morgan Block of the Church of St. Michael and St. George.

Miss Jane Meier will be her sister's maid of honor, and Miss Luola Hurkamp, sister of the bridegroom, Miss Janet Phelan and Mrs. Ellsworth A. McDougal Smith, bridesmaids. They will wear summery frocks fashioned alike of white mousseline de soie, combined with insets of the same material, embroidered, over white taffeta slips. The gowns are designed with drop shoulder bodices finished with an embroidered ruffle forming the yokes front and back, and crossing the arms instead of sleeves. The skirts are fitted into a yoke over the hips, with a band of embroidery, low placed, from which the circular skirts flare to the floor. Miss Jane Meier will wear a sash of pale green satin and a wide rough straw garden hat banded to match. Her flowers will be white daisies. The bridesmaids' gowns have sashes of pale yellow with hat bands to harmonize, and they will carry armfuls of yellow daisies.

The bride will be gowned in ivory satin designed with a deep transparent yoke and long close sleeves of d'Alencon lace, finished with a narrow belt caught with a crystal buckle. The skirt, long and circular, extends into a train. The bridal veil of ivory tulle, will be arranged to a lace cap, and worn with a Madonna band. It will be trimmed at the end with several horizontal tulle ruffles. She will carry lillies of the valley.

Gay Carroll, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Grayson Carroll, and Mary Louise Fritsche, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Fritsche, and a cousin of the bride, will be flower girls, in frocks of yellow batiste. Mr. Hurkamp Sr., will be his son's best man, and the groomsmen will include Francis Mesker, Lloyd Child and Cuyler McGinley.

An al fresco reception will follow the ceremony. The guests are to be served from small tables in the garden. The table for the wedding dinner, decorated with white sweet peas, roses and lilies of the valley, lighted by ivory tapers in silver containers, will be laid in one of the rooms adjoining the library.

Mr. Hurkamp and his bride will motor East on their honeymoon, and will make their home in Buffalo, N. Y.

The bride is a graduate of Mary Institute and the Bennett School, Millbrook, N. Y. She made her debut informally several years ago, and served twice as a maid of honor at the Veiled Prophet ball. Mr. Hurkamp is a graduate of the Woodberry Forest School, in Virginia, the University of Virginia and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Mr. and Mrs. Wells and their daughter, Miss Jane, will depart later this month for the North.

To celebrate the birthday today of King George V, Eric Cunliffe Buxton, British Consul in St. Louis, and Mrs. Buxton, 4908 McPherson avenue, will give a tea from 4 to 6 o'clock for a large group of friends at the Park Plaza.

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., June 3.

THE vacation season is again near enough to require making plans for it. Many of our people are able to enjoy a winter trip into the Southern portion of our country, but to most of us the time of relaxation comes in summer, when the attraction lies in the mountains and waters of the North.

In recent years possibly some who were responsible for management took to long vacations. Because we have had a difficult year and have many problems to solve such persons may think of foregoing any absence from business in the immediate future. The fact is the brains of the country need relaxation and refreshment more than ever this season. They owe a duty to themselves, their business, and their associates to get more than the usual period of rest. The country will be further advanced in October if July and August find many visitors at the shore and in the hills. Just now we need that replenishment of body and soul that comes only in withdrawing from work and familiar scenes and seeking diversion in new activities and new surroundings. This year above most others the brain and the hand need to be replenished by rest.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK.

ALARMISTS often sound warnings that Manhattan Island can no longer stand the weight of its mammoth towers. They fear that the millions of tons of concrete and steel will prove too much for the earth's crust and that some day with a despairing glug-glug the metropolis will sink.

But geologists hoot the idea. They say human ingenuity cannot put too great a strain on the island's surface. It is true underneath the top layer are shifting quick sands, natural springs and deep pools, but beyond is an immovable base.

Day by day builders are honeycombing the depths. Subways are slicing out enormous caverns. Still there is no possibility of collapse. At the bottom of it all is an early rock formation that is as firm as Gibraltar, so flinty that nothing can shake it.

Technical names for the upper crust are schist and dolomite. They require cutting drills of the highest pressure to make the slightest nick. Boring through them is an engineering feat. A tidal wave might possibly sway New York buildings, but underneath it would hold.

The bottom floor of Manhattan, in instances, is more than 500 feet below surface, which seems enormously deep, yet almost every other very large city has to go deeper to entrench its topping towers. Chicago, for example. And London.

New York builders use huge caissons to go through the muck, sands and water to reach rock bottom. These caissons are filled with concrete, and thus become connecting links that never snap. They would, the experts aver, resist all earthquakes.

Workers find the below surface labor intensely dramatic. In digging the foundation of one skyscraper they come across many relics. Hulks of clipper ships, now and then a pirate's treasure or ancient pottery are unearthed.

A COCKTAIL party in New York is not quite complete without at least one of those blond and languid-eyed boys with a Byronic collar—named Derek or Napier. And who affirms with a "Gad, yes." To impressionable ladies they seem to suggest a bench in the warm violet dusk, the poetical plish-plash of a fountain and overhead the thin scimitar of the moon. But for those of us who stand around in everyone's way, completely unnoticed, they are just pains in the neck.

I WAS beached for a moment with one of the Dereks at a tea. Lacking something brighter to say I ventured: "Hot in town, this summer!" He surveyed his meticulously polished nails, stifled a yawn and finally replied: "It usually is every summer." And if I had been in a rocking chair I would have rocked myself silly—I was that embarrassed.

FEW have received so much publicity as Roxy, the movie man. Yet not many ever heard of Mrs. Roxy. A reporter flushed her out of her cloister the other day for a brief interview. It develops that she is a most self-effacing lady, rarely going to the theater or other public places. Her spare time is spent in charity work, nursing the sick, among whom she is known and beloved as "The Lady in Gray." Another wife whose husband is always in the spotlight but who is herself never seen in public is Mrs. Otto Kahn.

DURING a long wakefulness last night I got to wondering what the Prince of Wales says when he comes home from a super-sales trip and finds the King all crouped up. I wondered if he said: "Say, Dad, can't you let me even go to South America without sloshing around without your rubbers? Are you jealous of my publicity? Pull yourself together!"

OR does he approach his father in princely robes, bend a knee and say: "I trust Your Majesty's whistle will soon be in tune again as is the royal custom?"

week-end to discuss ways of cutting costs. However, naval officials have pointed out that appropriations for the coming fiscal year are less than those of this year, while the five-year aviation expansion program remains uncompleted and the Navy has not built up to the London arms conference limitation.

The White House statement said:

"In reply to inquiries from the press, the following information in round numbers has been furnished by the director of the budget as to the economies made during the past year and the probably fiscal situation upon July 1.

"Present indications are that the financial transactions of the Government for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1931, will show an increase of about $500,000,000 in the national debt. The deficit is from about $900,000,000 to $950,000,000, of which about $440,000,000 will be due to the statutory redemption of the debt.

"The deficit is principally due to a falling off in receipts of the Treasury, from taxes and other sources, caused by the depression, which will apparently be about $840,000,000 below the fiscal year ended June 30, 1930. Added to this is the additional burden of about $50,000,000 fall in postal receipts.

"There have also been large increases in expenditures for construction work and agricultural relief and for veterans' services amounting to about $540,000,000 above that of the last fiscal year.

Final Deficit $950,000,000.

"These figures alone—a reduction of $90,000,000 in receipts and an increase of nearly $540,000,000 in expenditures in the above items—would indicate that the Government would be over $1,430,000,000 worse off this year than last.

"However, deferments and reductions in expenditures in other parts of the Government largely due to the economy drive last summer amount to about $180,000,000. During the fiscal year ended last June the debt was reduced by $305,000,000 in excess of statutory amount, while this year it was held to the legal requirements. These two sums make a difference in the situation of about $485,000,000 and result in a final deficit of about $900,000,000 or $950,000,000.

"As stated, of this deficit of $900,000,000 or $950,000,000, about $440,000,000 will be expended in the statutory redemption of the public debt, so that the net increase in the debt for the fiscal year will probably be about $500,000,000.

"The administrator of veterans affairs reports that the loans so far made upon bonus certificates now total $1,098,947,000 to 1,971,966 individuals, of which $284,481,000 has been furnished from insurance and other funds, about $60,000,000 from the banks, and $754,466,000 from sale of Treasury obligations."

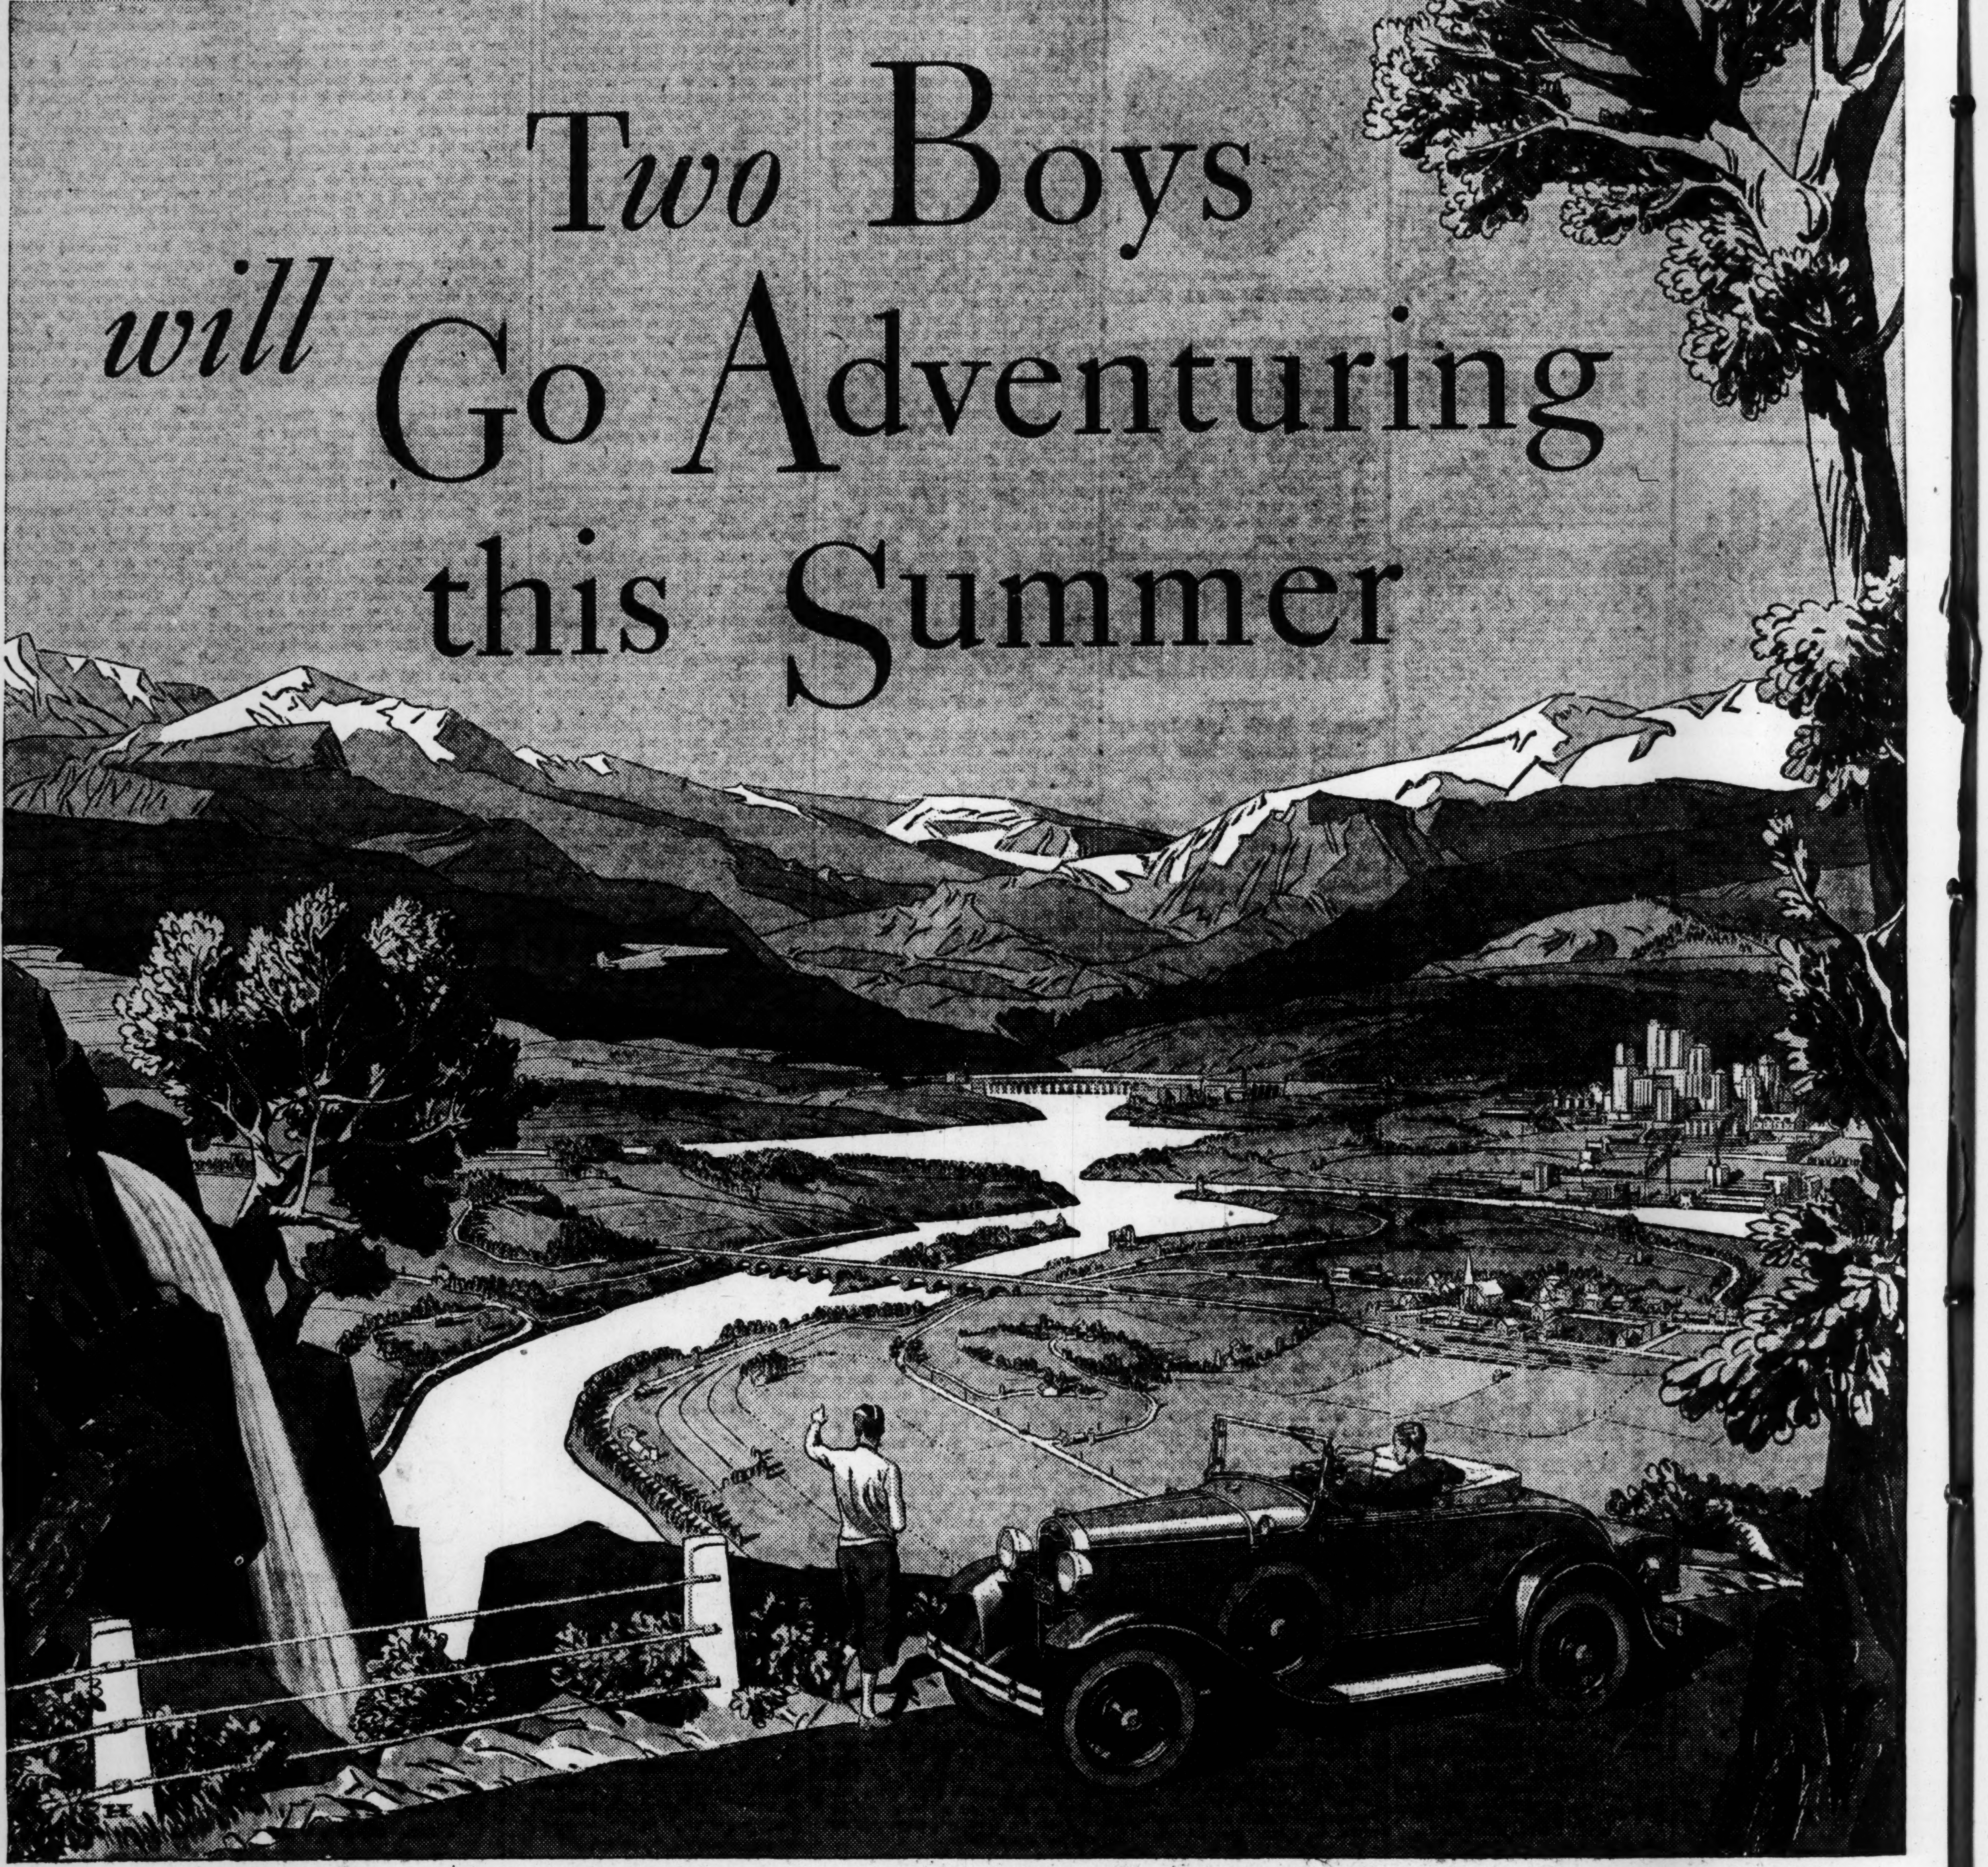
Two Boys will Go Adventuring this Summer



HOW TWO FAR-SEEING PARENTS WILL HELP THEIR SONS TO KNOW MORE ABOUT THE PRACTICAL THINGS OF LIFE

On a bright clear morning this month, two boys will step eagerly into a Ford roadster and start on a motor trip that will last the whole summer through.

Theirs will be a trip never to be forgotten . . . long to be remembered.

Regular school will have closed for them, but their practical education will be but beginning. They will learn many things not found in books. Two far-seeing parents have attended to that.

Pressed by the boys to give them an automobile as reward for passing with high grades, the parents consented on one condition . . . that the trip must serve a useful purpose. So this plan was decided on.

Each day the boys will arise at seven o'clock and follow a carefully arranged route and schedule. This calls for their visiting principal points of interest in this country and spending time in leading industrial plants. They will get back to the sources of raw materials—see how things are mined and grown—and follow them through the various stages of manufacture. They will see how they are used by millions of people.

Bustling factories will teach of the work of men and machines. The village farms and wide, rolling prairies will reveal the magic of nature and the treasures that lie beneath the soil. Everywhere—through first-hand contact—they will learn more about the great country in which they live.

Thrown a great deal on their own resources—yet not too much—they will develop a poise and self-reliance they could get in no other way. The theory of books will become the actuality of fact.

Each night they will sit down and write a letter telling what they have seen and what they have done in that particular day. And two proud parents at home will read and envy and prepare perhaps to set forth on a similar adventure.

It seems altogether natural and logical that the Ford was selected for an extended trip of this kind. Always it has been associated with dependable, economical, useful transportation. For more than a quarter of a century it has been both pioneer and leader.

Years ago it was the first automobile ever seen in many of the sections the boys will visit. Today it is a part of the lives and activities of millions of men and women. So universal is its service that people everywhere look upon it not only as an automobile but a national institution. It is the symbol and the expression of high value at low price, unique manufacturing methods, and higher wages for American workmen.

Many thousands of miles of use will confirm your first impression of quality and give you a feeling of pride and satisfaction in the performance of the Ford. You will come back from the long trip convinced that it is "a great car."

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES

12,000,000 Deaf People
In the United States

A manufacturer of world-wide reputation (84 years in business) is seeking a St. Louis representative for an electrical hearing aid. The product is the result of 25 years' experimentation by scientists of the foremost electrical concern and research institution. It embodies a new principle of sound amplification, which makes it the most powerful and sentitive hearing aid now on the market.

There are 12,000,000 deaf people in the United States. A good percentage live in St. Louis. Our representative will, therefore, find a ready market here, in which he can make a generous profit with our product.

The firm wanted will have exclusive sales rights in the St. Louis territory, and will handle our product to the exclusion of all similar instruments.

New York Sugar.

NEW YORK, June 3.—Raw sugar was quiet early today and in absence of business, prices were unchanged at 3.23 for spots, duty paid.

Futures opened 2 to 3 points lower under liquidation and European selling, promoted by the easier ruling of the London market and the more liberal offerings in the spot market. Shorts and trade interests bought on the decline, and following the call prices steadied up on increased covering and buying by houses with trade connections. The volume of business, however, was much smaller than recently, with operators apparently inclined to limit fresh commitments and await new developments. The market at midday was net unchanged to 1 point lower.

As announced yesterday, all refiners advanced 10 points to the basis of 4.45 for fine granulated at the opening this morning. The trade was said to have covered requirements for the next 30 days before the advance became effective, so that business was light and confined to withdrawals against recently placed contracts.

Futures closed steady, unchanged to one point higher, approximated sales 18,100 tons. July $1.16; Sept. $1.24; Dec. $1.32@1.33; Jan. $1.34, March $1.40; May $1.47.

SHARP RALLY MARKS STOCK TRADE WHEN SHORTS BUY

Retreat Begins When Banks Announce a Reduction in Margin Requirements on Collateral Loans to Brokers — Pivotal Issues Up 4 to 7 Points — Closing Prices Highest.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 3.—Stocks rebounded sharply today under a wave of short covering that started early in the afternoon and continued through to the strong close. Pivotal issues rose 4 to 7 points or more and the turnover swelled to about 3,500,000 shares, the largest volume in some time.

Shorts began to retreat slowly when banks announced a reduction in the margin requirements on collateral loans to brokers, but the movement gathered impetus as the market went into the later hours and soon the withdrawal became a scramble. Closing prices were the highest.

Trade news contributed little or nothing to the rally, which was one of those automatic recoveries, resulting from an oversold position.

Shares up 6 to 7 points net included Western Union, American Telephone, International Business Machines, Consolidated Gas, American Can, Southern Pacific, Atchison, American Tobacco "B" and Public Service of New Jersey.

U. S. Steel, closing at 88½, was up 5½ and there were similar gains in Rock Island, Air Reduction, Allied Chemical and Westinghouse. Issues up 3 to 4 included New York Central, General Motors, General Electric, Gillette, Woolworth, National Biscuit, North American, du Pont and Borden.

Cotton, helped by the rise in stocks, advanced $1.25 to $1.35 a bale net.

Most of the foreign exchanges eased slightly. The French franc sagged, perhaps in expectation of a lower Bank of France rate tomorrow. The decline in sterling was nominal. The Spanish peseta continued its advance, climbing 20 points to 9.59.

Margin Requirements Act.

Sentiment gained courage from the announcement that at least two large local banks had cut their margin requirements on loans to brokers to 20 per cent from 25. Officials of one institution explained that the action was taken because the bank believed stock prices were on a level which made the lower margin conservative. The effect, of course, would be to stimulate borrowing. Liberal reductions were made after the first crash in 1929, and others have followed.

Decision of the Department of Justice to withdraw its opposition to the oil consolidation was rather a surprise. The merger action had been regarded as a test case of the Government's attitude toward recombinations of old Standard Oil units. The possible bearing on a union of New Jersey and California standards, which was discussed some time ago, was naturally the subject of comment, but the general opinion seemed to be that there would be no immediate scramble in the direction of mergers.

Steel Industry Solution.

The midweek reports from trade were largely negative. Steel Ingot Production, according to "Iron Age," is down to 42 pre cent of capacity compared with 44 per cent a week ago, but the review stressed the slow rate of the seasonal recession from the spring peak and pointed out that the inevitable release of deferred needs should acclerate the rise in demand when the turning point is reached. Trade circles look for the industry to reach its summer low in July.

Loadings of freight were up 7339 cars in the week ended May 23, but the improvement was somewhat less than seasonal, although it was larger than occurred a year ago. Electric Power output, smaller because of the Memorial Day observance, cut down the rate of decline in comparison with 1930, and a pickup was noted in the states of the central industrial region where the use of power has been slack.

8 Cent Copper.

An eight cent quotation on domestic copper emphasized the slowness of the demand for that that metal and the desire to move existing stocks.

Reduction of the Rock Island common dividend was in line with general expectations, although in some quarters a larger cut had been expected.

Money was dull. Stock exchange call loans renewed at 1½ per cent.

RAILS AND UTILITIES LEAD BOND UPTURN

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 3.—The bond market moved back and forth irregularly today but a firmer tendency which developed about midsession grew into an upward movement toward the close of trading and made its greatest gains among the railroad and public utility obligations.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 3.—Bond sales on the New York Stock Exchange today were $12,353,000 compared with $14,103,000 yesterday; $8,584,000 a week ago and $8,372,000 a year ago. Total sales from Jan. 1 to date were $1,212,695,000 compared with $1,273,268,000 last year and $1,112,921,000 two years ago.

Quotations on all Liberty bonds are in dollars and thirty-seconds of a dollar. That is, for instance, a sale printed 99—24 means $99 and 24 thirty-seconds of a dollar, and not $99.24.

GOVERNMENT OUT AS WHEAT BUYER, PRICES DECLINE

Futures Have Setback Here Early as Prices at Other Markets Break Sharply in Trades.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—The early and heavy movement of new crop wheat from the Southwest was said at the Farm Board today to have prompted the withdrawal of Government support from the June wheat market.

Chairman Stone of the board and George S. Milnor, president of the Grain Stabilization Corporation, in Chicago, agreed on this action last night in a telephone conversation after a day of sizeable wheat shipments from Texas.

At the board it was explained today that the Grain Stabilization Corporation had promised to continue wheat purchases in June only until such a time as the arrival of new wheat became a factor in the market.

Stone declined to comment on today's developments, but it was said at the board's offices that the position taken was that the Stabilization Corporation could not buy Texas wheat to maintain the stabilization price at the expense of Kansas farmers who will begin harvesting and shipping next month. For this reason, the decision was reached to discontinue purchases now when the first of the heavy movement of new stocks appeared at the terminals.

Milnor has announced that wheat held by his agency will be sold at the stabilized price of about 85 cents. Should millers need additional old wheat they would be required to pay this price, as it is believed the Stabilization Corporation now has in its possession virtually all of the prospective carryover on July 1.

ST. LOUIS MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, June 3.—July wheat closed 2⅛c lower today and September 1¼c, influenced by action of Grain Stabilization Board in regard to further purchases of wheat. Corn was up ⅝c on July and down ½c on September.

Report that the grain stabilization board agencies had ceased buying old crop wheat after continuing into the new month for two days was the dominating bear factor. Sharp breaks in June deliveries at Minneapolis and Duluth were reported.

Two cars of No. 1 red winter wheat, however, were bought here by the Grain Stabilization Board agent at 77 cents, down 4 cents from yesterday.

Rain was reported in parts of Canada and Texas yields were reported as favorable.

Corn was affected by wheat after bullish comment on reserve moisture in part of Iowa.

There was no session at Winnipeg.

Liverpool was ⅞d lower in one cable.

July wheat opened at 56, Sept. wheat 54⅝, July corn 55½ and Sept. corn 52¾.

Local wheat receipts which were 295,400 bushels compared with 148,400 a week ago and 18,200 a year ago included 19 cars local and 92 through. Corn receipts which were 39,200 bushels compared with 42,000 a week ago and 18,200 a year ago included 18 cars local and 10 through. Oats receipts which were 13,200 bushels compared with 28,600 a week ago and 30,800 a year ago included six cars local. Hay receipts were one car local and one through.

Cash Grain Sales.

Sales of cash grain made on the floor of the Exchange today were as follows:

Wheat—No. 1 red winter, 77c; sample grade hard, 69c.

Corn—No. 3 mixed, 53½c; No. 6, 51c; No. 1 yellow, 57c; No. 2, 57c; No. 3, 56c; No. 2 white, 56½c; No. 6, 53½c.

JUNE WHEAT RANGES DOWN 5 1-2C ON CHICAGO MARKET

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 3.—Spectacualr downward swings of grain prices today accompanied announcements that in the judgement of the Federal Farm Board the parting of the ways had been reached between old crop wheat dealings and the new 1931 domestic crop. Definite word from official sources was received that Government sponsored agencies were not buying wheat in any market, and in some cases prices quickly fell more than 13 cents a bushel.

It had been promised that buying support for cash wheat prices by Farm Board allies would continue until new wheat started moving in the Southwest, but advices were received today that 40 to 50 bushels an acre of new wheat were harvested in Texas, and was moving rapidly to market. Withdrawal of Government sponsored buying support for June wheat contracts and for cash wheat, followed, and with the collapse of quotations the market here and at other leading centers became semi-demoralized.

One or two markets, however, reported several cars taken by Government agencies.

The maximum fall of prices in Chicago, 5½c for June wheat, was greatly exceeded in Minneapolis, Duluth and Kansas City. Other Chicago deliveries than June showed at times 2½@3⅛c maximum drops. Wheat closed nervous, with the market ranging from ⅛@5½c lower than yesterday's finish. Corn closed ½c off to ⅝c up. Oats ⅛@¼c down, and provisions varying from 2c decline to a rise of 30c.

Withdrawal of Government sponsored agencies as buyers of old crop was chiefly responsible. July wheat, representing the new 1931 crop, quickly collapsed 2 cents a bushel and June wheat 3¼ cents.

Talk of heavy yields of new wheat in harvest operations now in progress in Texas was a contributing bearish factor.

Corn and oats, as well as wheat, outdid the season's bottom price record.

Severe downturns of quotations for June wheat contracts at Minneapolis and Duluth suddenly turned trade attention away from Canadian crop damage prospects. Eight cents a bushel break in June wheat was shown at Minneapolis and 10 cents at Duluth. Reports in Chicago indicated that Farm Board allies had ceased buying old crop wheat, and that belated holders were without a Government-sponsored outlet. June wheat in Chicago quickly dropped 2¼ cents. Bearish estimates of new winter wheat yields in Texas tended also to weaken prices.

Transient rallies in which prices earlier had resulte' from Canadian report that crops in Southern and Central Saskatchewan were at a stage where adequate general rains must be had at once or wheat would be a total loss in many districts.

Corn and oats weakened when wheat prices turned downgrade.

Provisions held about steady.

Drop of 12 Cents at Minneapolis.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 3.—Wheat prices for the June option dropped 12¼ cents a bushel to 64 cents in an hour on the Minneapolis grain market today as offerings for the spot month found no buyers. The drastic slump was attributed to withdrawal of farm board agents from the maret.

June wheat opened unchanged to 6½ cents lower when trading began and by 10 o'clock prices had slumped to 64 cents a bushel, 12½ cents below yesterday's close at 76½ cents.

Prices cropped steadily, losing from 1 to 2 cents at a time. July wheat futures also were down 4½ cents one hour after the opening. July closed yesterday at 65¼ cents.

HOW POLICE CAPTURED SLAYER AFTER 6 YEARS

Youth, Hunted All Over the World, Found in Jersey Bungalow.

By the Associated Press.

MINEOLA, N. Y., June 3. — A county police official, who did not relax in hunting for a slayer for six years, has landed his man, Philip Knox Knapp, charged with the slaying in 1925 of Louis Panella, a taxicab driver.

Inspector Harold King of Nassau County police walked up to a little house on a quiet street in West Orange,, N. J., early yesterday and to the smiling young man who opened the door, repeated a line from Shakspeare's "Twelfth Night": "Journeys end in lovers' meeting"——

A few minutes later the young man admitted he was Knapp and that he had killed Panella. Before night he had been brought by airplane to Mineola, arraigned on a six-year-old indictment and locked up in Nassau County jail to await trial.

In West Orange the young man left a dazed and frightened young woman, to whom for five years he had been Allen Kingsbury Phillips, a devoted husband. He told her his story a few minutes before relating it to police, and, with his arm around her shoulder, he said sadly, "And so all my life has been a lie."

A few days ago Inspector King, checking through his records, told a subordinate once more to send out circulars on Knapp and to be sure that copies went to the Army, Navy, Marines and Coast Guard. At the time of the slaying Knapp, member of a well-to-do Syracuse family, was an enlisted man in the air service at Mitchel Field.

Monday morning Inspector King received a letter from a Coast Guard officer on Staten Island saying fingerprints of the man he wanted tallied with those of a former member of his patrol. With this information, King traced his man to the New Jersey bungalow.

"I don't know why I did it—unless it was for the thrill," Knapp told Inspector King. To District Attorney Edwards of Nassau County, Knapp indicated he had shot the driver accidentally, running away in fright afterward.

After he had killed Panella, he said, he joined the Coast Guard as "Allen Kingsbury Phillips of Seattle," married Miss Eleanor Hill, Boston, and for five years, while police were searching for him in the far corners of the world, lived a quiet family life on Staten Island and in New Jersey.

"Very often," he said today, "I used to go into the detectives' room of a New York police station and see my picture there on the wall. They never got wise to me. I knew one of the detectives quite well."

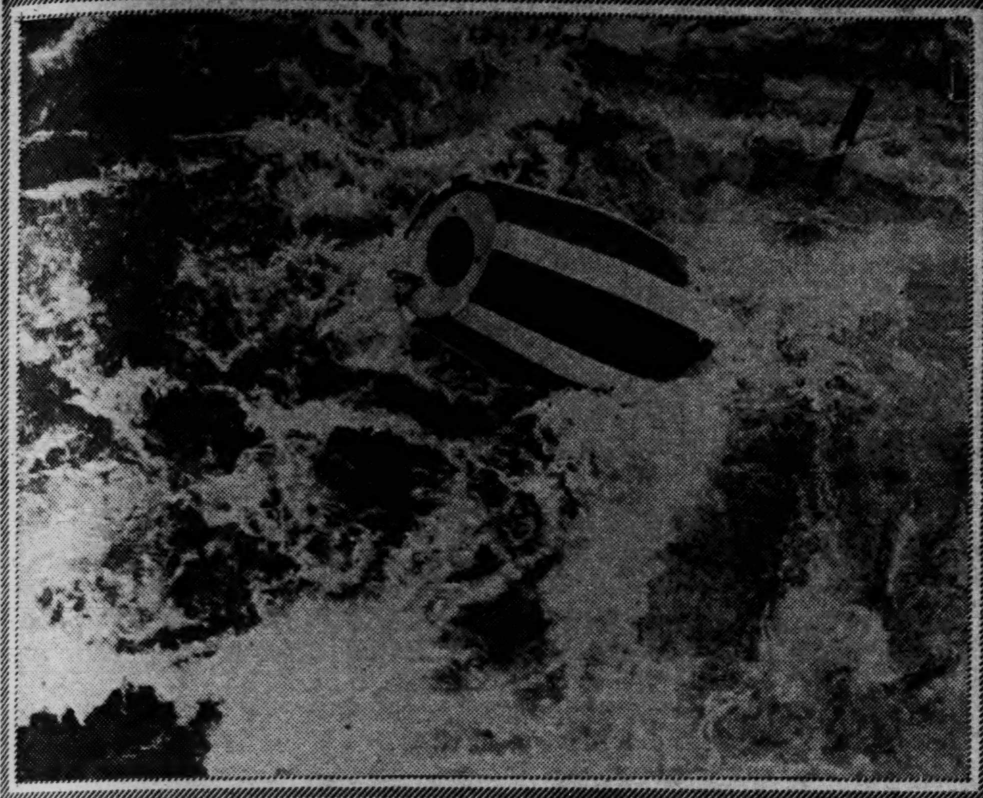
STALLED IN NIAGARA WHIRLPOOL



Photograph of barrel in which William "Red" Hill attempted to travel the entire length of the swirling torrent between Lake Erie and Ontario, as it was caught in counter currents. The barrel, after two hours, was almost filled with water. Then a freak of the current sent it into an outer eddy. Hill's son then swam out with a rope, attached it to the barrel, and the adventurer was hauled ashore.

MID-WEEK REVIEW OF THE LATEST STYLES

Fashions Make Figure Taller

Daytime Skirts in Repose Hang Straight. Coats Are Cut With Scant Fullness. Revers and the Surplice Most Favored. Three Necklines Are Indorsed. Color Contrast Continues.

By ALICE MAXWELL APPO.

WHAT is being worn at the fashionable watering places of Europe is of great significance. Even the couturiers react to leads the small, smart, international set at these resorts consciously or unconsciously provides.

Fashions seen along the Riviera and at Biarritz are later adopted at Deauville and Le Touquet, then the ever widening influence spread throughout the world of dress.

The slimmer silhouette is making considerable progress. Along the famous promenades of Cannes and Nice, the superb terraces of Monte Carlo, young women have seemed straighter and taller. Not that reducing has come into vogue with new zest, but because the hems of skirts cling slightly more to the figure and yield less to the whipping breezes.

Former generous flares have succumbed to an economy of pleats or a new moderation in circular cuts. True, the all-around pleated skirt is enjoying a smart revival, but even this skirt in repose is straight as can be.

Coats particularly play this straight game for they are very scant as far as sports, travel, and utility types go—the only resort day types, so to speak.

There is practically no flare to this skirt, the panels of fine tucking set in at different levels, front and back, lending but negligible fullness.

A small jacket, laid aside for such activities as dancing was outlined with self loops matching those at the dress hem.

Likewise scant through hip and hem is the Redfern ensemble coat, although the dress being crepe is allowed a necessary flare at the hem, coinciding, however, with the very slim lines above. This ensemble of yellow and white wool coat and white shantung frock fagotted in radiating lines from the neck is a stunning study in contrasting pastel.

DOUBLE-BREASTED closings are prominent this season, not only in coats but in jackets, dresses, blouses, and conspicuously in gilets cut low in deep U shape and often knitted.

Large revers, with or without the double-breasted feature, are seen again and again, and in coats have a dashing air. In dresses they are more apt to be associated with surplice closings and to fall in soft drapy fashion.

A few sailor collars lend that nautical appearance which seems to break out anew every summer, and such collars usually are allied with the reefer jacket, brass buttons and even pique culottes, or to put it mildly, shantung pajamas—shantung being the most famous sports fabric.

The trickiness of color combinations is observed in the costumes seen at every daytime gathering. Observe the small yellow tie used to relate the Redfern tennis dress to its yellow trimmed white coat. It may be expected that the lass who wears this ensemble has yellow bracelets on one arm.

A navy blue belt on a light blue frock, as that designed by Worth, forms the smart connecting link with a navy coat to complete an ensemble.

Yellow and white, navy and light blue are both fashionable color combinations. Yellow especially is the vogue in many connections, with brown of course, with very dark blue and with black.

White and black together maintain all the old force for chic. The lingerie note in organdie, pique, linen, also the note of white beads in single or several strands do much to keep the combination thriving.

IT is possible to wear almost any kind of a neckline, and certainly to find that which is most becoming. Square necks have been reinstated with rather brilliant success in day dress, while they long have maintained importance for evening.

The square neck shown in the Talbot black crepe dress is an example of how this type of neck sets off a lovely throat and that seductive curve of the shoulder line, a square frame for a pretty face.

Molyneux' evening gown has a square neck, unusual inasmuch as its strap treatment starts at back and after passing over the shoulders and under the arms, widens into ties which knot at center back.

The matching coat or jacket for the evening gown is a pronounced note in European fashions in Lelong's unique model executed in black chiffon.

Very original is the treatment here—a fan-like cutting of the fabric forming a sort of ruching below the hipline of the dress, and as a finish to the bottom of the jacket, the ruching stirring softly with every breath of air.

Already the very short evening coats of the type sponsored by Chanel, have made a definite impression. To reiterate, such coats are of colored velvet or velveteen.

New Notes in Hosiery

FABRIC surfaces now give the cue to hosiery finishes. Dull finished costume materials were the means of introducing the popular dull finished stockings, then the meshes and nets appeared to complement the coarse look of tweeds and rough woolens.

The fine points of dress to which women are more and more giving serious attention demand hosiery in the spirit of the costume.

Tweeds and the rough effects in fabrics prophesied for fall will bring forth novelty hosiery in tweed and basket weave meshes in wool, silk and wool, cotton and silk mixtures. Nubby, waffle-like weaves in autumn dress and coat woolens for sports will continue the popularity of the meshes and nets in stockings, but the trend is toward an interesting oatmeal appearing mesh when a stocking is on the leg that blends in well with the new woolens.

It is believed that satin will stage a come-back in daytime dress, which means that luster stockings or at least semi-luster will be worn as the correct accompaniment to the satin frock.

The smartest hosiery of summer is that with the very low heel which disappears when the shoe is on. This inconspicuous heel was fostered by the vogue of the sandal shoe and has a tendency to make the ankle look much thinner and smaller.

Redfern achieves slim lines in this ensemble of yellow and white, incrusting yellow wool ingeniously on the white wool coat and adding a yellow tie to the fagotted frock of white shantung. The rever coat collar and round neck of the dress are very smart.

Barbaric Styles In Summer Wear

THE savage styles of the Barbary coast have stamped the summer mode of the Rue de la Paix and Fifth avenue.

From necklaces imitating a tribal chieftain's teeth to the brilliant hues of Moroccan fabrics, the new clothes for smart Americans and Europeans reflect the aborigina. tone of African colonies, an influence produced by the Colonial exposition at Vincennes.

Algerian blue (bright sapphire), Tunisian green (brilliant emerald), Moroccan red (dull crimson), and Senegalese yellow (golden yellow) are used for the togs which are seen in both ballrooms and on beaches. All are combined with white, favorite hue on the Arabian desert.

Printed silks for daytime have fantastic aboriginal patterns borrowed from Indo-China and Martinique.

Wools and cottons are used everywhere, instead of silk, even for evening gowns. White light wools as transparent as tulle and voiles borrowed from the design of the burnoos (Arabian cloak) are among the favorite fabrics.

Accessories have likewise taken on an exotic tone. Bracelets modeled after the amulets of savages and necklaces of polished wood, lacquered stones and porcelain teeth are among the newest designs.

Cool Summer Dresses

COOLNESS combined with attractiveness seems to have been in the minds of the designers of this summer's clothes.

A fetching one-piece dress suitable for almost and occasion from morning shopping to afternoon tea combines ecru net with figured brown and white silk. The waist, with its short puff sleeves, is made of the net. A little bolero sleeveless jacket of the silk matches the skirt.

The ordinary nut cracker frequently comes in handy as a wrench for opening obstinate cans and bottles with screw tops.

For the Laundry List

A 10-cent blank book for laundry records is invaluable. A list of customary laundry can be written therein and each week just the number of articles need be entered. It saves time writing out the articles each time and you always know where the list is, what was sent, besides having a neat alibi should a complaint arise.

Two Color Gowns Lelong Sensation In Evening Dress

FASCINATING evening dresses are shown in the new collection of Lelong, the models designed on the principle that if one color is good, two are much better. And such luscious colors! This artist certainly knows how to blend them beautifully.

Fancy an evening bodice in delicate powder blue velvet joined to a skirt of dark brown crepe, or a brown chiffon skirt with satin bodice in lettuce green, this completed by a green satin jacket bordered with brown fur.

Unusual combinations are full of pitfalls for any one but a genius to attempt.

Another diverting combination consists of a black velvet top with embroidered white organdie skirt. This alliance is faintly reminiscent of quaint styles, but is executed in a most modern and sophisticated manner.

For gaiety, fancy the charm of a tomato red bodice and a black chiffon skirt to compose an evening dress.

Among the prettiest of all is the combination of black and flesh colored laces of the same pattern, the flesh lace for the decollete bodice and a bolero jacket, and the black lace for the very full long skirt.

APPARENTLY Lelong is smitten with the idea of jeune fille clothes, if that is the way to classify starched muslins and the other excessively dainty things seen in this collection. What a treat to tired eyes is his pale lemon organdie evening gown! And how captivatingly young is a white dotted Swiss frock with demure round neck, berthe collar and three circular skirt flounces precisely spaced and rather pertly outstanding.

White organdie is used to trim a dress of black tulle and also a white chiffon plaided in green. Really, the departures into the side lines of linens and cottons is this season nothing short of sensational.

There may be nothing new under the sun in this art of creating dress, but these old things look startlingly new today.

IN addition to the prominent powder blue of Lelong are many, many shade of brown and also parakeet, that nice bright parrot feather green that is destined to be seen to a vast extent from this time on.

Tomato red is another delightfully fresh and gay color which will be known under various new names as soon as the French Colonial Exposition gets really going.

Velvet is made very important for evening as are also georgette, crepe satin, plain chiffons, and sheer lace.

Her money bothered him. He had grown to hate money. Money—or rather the lack of it—had dealt him a bitter blow—one that he was now beginning to look upon as a providential discipline, as escape. For Naida he had nothing but contempt now, and yet, so strong is the habit of the senses that, even loving Julie passionately and deeply and purely, he was not unmoved in Naida's presence. Her absence distressed him not at all. But when they were together—and they were together often, Naida saw to that; she knew that Julie attracted him and, failing anything else, used Julie for bait—when they were together, he could not help but remember. His mind and his heart had, so to speak, forgotten, but his hands and his eyes and the very blood of his body remembered.

Naida, on her part, had forgotten none of her old tricks—her little wistful clingings, her provocative fingertips and veiled eyes, her broken sighs and skillful raking among old ashes in which an ember, an unworthy ember, still burned.

AT last Hildreth spoke her mind to Jack, and they discussed the situation.

"I'm not worried," said Hildreth not altogether truthfully. "I think it's just—oh, almost a schoolgirl thing. Bruce is attractive. That strong, silent sort with a smash-up in his past never fails to attract romantic infants."

"Julie—romantic?"

"Very. Haven't you seen? Have you no sense?"

"It won't be so good for us if she married right off the bat like that," said Jack gloomily. "We'll feel like twin Cinderellas. The chime of Julie's wedding bells will mean back to the inglenook for us."

"I know." Hildreth laughed a little, but her eyes remained grave. "Still—we can't stand in her way. And Bruce Stepney is no fortune-hunter—we both know that. We couldn't interfere on those grounds. But I do feel that Julie hasn't had her chance. I feel that honestly," said Hildreth, and she meant it. "She hasn't met enough men as yet, she hasn't been out enough, she hasn't had her little time of flirtation and excitement and in and out of love all in a breath. Every girl's entitled to it. I'm going to talk to Bruce."

She did so at the next opportunity. She got him alone, on some pretext and went straight to the point.

"You've turned my charge's head," she said.

He did not deny it, although he himself would not have expressed it in that way.

"And you're half in love with her yourself," Hildreth accused further.

"Wholly," said Bruce.

After all, Jack and Hildreth were Julie's guardians—they had a right to know.

Hildreth sighed. Then she said Frankly: "I like you, and so does Jack. We've been good friends. And I have grown fond of Julie, although sometimes she exasperates me almost to murder. There is nothing for me to say. That is, common-sensically. You have every right to go in and win. But I feel that Julie hasn't had her chance. She isn't acclimated yet, so to speak. I feel—and so does Jack—that you should give her a little longer, should not tie her down now."

HIS heart sank, although he himself had realized the wisdom and fairness of this course before Hildreth had spoken—had even set his feet firmly upon the unknown path that might lead to defeat or renunciation as easily as to ultimate victory. It was one thing to make good resolutions yourself, and another to have someone else make them for you.

"I know. You are perfectly right. I had made up my mind not to speak—yet."

"Please," begged Hildreth—and to do her justice Julie's interests, as she saw them, rather than her own, were uppermost in her clever, sophisticated little mind. "Please—neglect her a little, won't you? She's so taken up with you no one else has a chance."

He promised, this time rather against his will.

So he saw less of Julie, and nothing at all after she moved to the country. He worked harder than ever on his airplane engine—he went away on short, lonely trips. Before the Desmonds left town, he had the unhappy satisfaction of knowing that now that he had tacitly withdrawn from the race, others had entered it. Of course, Pat Jordan had always tried to run neck and neck with him. Pat was at Julie's disposal at any time. He rode with her in the park mornings; he was always arranging lit-

THE INCREDIBLE YEAR

Faith Baldwin Who wrote "The Office Wife"

CHAPTER TWENTY-ONE.

BUT it was not fair. It had happened that Bruce was the first man Julie had met in this life so new to her who spoke her own language—who understood. It was to him that she came with each small tangle of the unaccustomed existence; to him that she spoke of her father, of her home, of her long, quiet, sun-warmed years in the woods. It was to him she came with her sudden angers and dismays and lack of comprehension.

He would wait. There was yet time. He would watch, he would help her, protect her where and when and how he could. And hope unutterably that she would not alter—that the new life would make no permanent change in her, that her beauty of body and spirit would not dim, nor her fineness be imperilled, nor the gold of her honesty become tarnished. He would wait. And if, at the end of a year, she was the same, if the inclination toward himself had not weakened nor been turned aside, he would speak.

Her money bothered him. He had grown to hate money. Money—or rather the lack of it—had dealt him a bitter blow—one that he was now beginning to look upon as a providential discipline, as escape. He promised, this time rather against his will.

So he saw less of Julie, and nothing at all after she moved to the country. He worked harder than ever on his airplane engine—he went away on short, lonely trips. Before the Desmonds left town, he had the unhappy satisfaction of knowing that now that he had tacitly withdrawn from the race, others had entered it. Of course, Pat Jordan had always tried to run neck and neck with him. Pat was at Julie's disposal at any time. He rode with her in the park mornings; he was always arranging little affairs from which he rather pointedly excluded Bruce. This Bruce had known, but he had not worried about it until he himself withdrew, and rather definitely.

Sometimes, when he did not know what to do with a long evening, he went to see Naida. He knew she would break any engagement for him—she had as much as told him so. So he went to her smart little house and dined alone with her, or went out with her somewhere simply because he was lonely and rebellious and a little frightened.

Naida let it be known. And as Pat was her cousin, the rest was easy. Said Pat to Julie, on their last ride together before the Desmonds left town:

"Bruce is going strong with the old love. He and Naida seem to have made up all their differences," went on Pat carelessly, "and it's all over but the announcement. Of course," he concluded, neatly dropping a wicked little seed, "of course he can't scorn her money—he wouldn't be such a fool. He's well wrapped up in this engine business of his and he needs a lot of financing."

JULIE said abruptly, remembering Bruce's refusal of her offer: "He'd never think of a woman's money. He isn't that kind."

Pat laughed.

"Besides," she said furiously, "he couldn't be such a wash-rag as to go back to a woman who had treated him that way!"

Her eyes blazed, and her cheeks flamed, and her heart hurt her terribly. She had never before known active jealousy, and now it took her and seared her and twisted her. She remembered Bruce and Naida together the first night she had met them. She remembered them dancing, and the way Naida's lovely little body had clung, the way her head had been tilted, and her lips soft, and her eyelids drooped. She was sick with jealousy—torn with it—and Pat saw.

In that instant he knew what he must do. He must cover his own growing greed and desire for this girl. He must walk warily, he must get her confidence, he must play the understanding friend. This was no time to urge his own case. Not yet.

Julie went with the Desmonds to the pretty house on the water which they had taken for the season, and found that Long Island was simply transplanted New York. Early as it was, many of the houses were open, and there was calling from one to the other, dinners and dances, country club, golf and tennis. She had a natural bent for any sport, and Hildreth, with the same care with which she had selected Julie's clothes, chose instructors for her. It so happened that Pat's golf was excellent. He had natural good form, played in the seventies, and could have gained an amateur standing for himself had he not been so lazy.

He appeared to have no visible means of support except his sporadic operations upon Wall street. He was, therefore, ready to come down bag and baggage to Oyster Bay to supervise Julie's golf and permit her to practice tennis with him.

Julie, without knowing where the change was, sensed the alteration in him almost at once. He no longer obviously flirted with her, nor "said things," as she put it to herself, nor alternately teased and flattered her. He persisted in the big brother attitude, scolded and praised her as he saw fit. She had always rather liked him. Now she grew fond of him in her loneliness and her hurt.

For Bruce's sudden desertion had hurt dreadfully. And the rumors that came to her from all sides of his revived interest in Naida Trevor angered her and fed the flame of her jealousy.

"Naida is wearing Bruce Stepney like a decoration," some one commented at dinner one day, and Pat, sitting beside Julie, could feel the shiver of distaste that ran through her at the words and the following laughter.

THAT night he walked out on the terrace with her, and down into the rose garden where the smoke of his cigarette blended with the fragrance of the early roses and the scent of the salt wind.

"You're jealous," he told her. "Oh, don't stamp your foot and deny it!" for Julie had turned on him furiously. "You're jealous of Naida Trevor."

"Well, what of it?" she asked him sullenly.

"Nothing." He sighed, threw the cigarette away, and drew her arm through his own. "Nothing. But you—like Bruce Stepney—more than like him. I know. Every one knows."

"Everyone?"

"Yes, you've made it pretty obvious."

"I'm not ashamed of it," she flung out.

"Of course, not! But you are in another world now, Julie, a world which dissembles and conceals—and sometimes a man is a little—well—embarrassed by too open a preference. We remain male, you know, despite all evidence to the contrary—and we still like to do the pursuing."

Julie gasped. "You're being hateful," she told him.

"Yes, I suppose so. But I want to see you happy, Julie," said Pat seriously, marveling at his own cleverness, developing a sudden scheme as he went along, finding it good and sound and embroidering upon it. "Julie, don't you see that you can't compete with Naida Trevor? Not as you are now. You're young—an infant. You haven't learned to hide your emotions. Naida has been married, she was born sophisticated, and moreover Bruce was once insanely in love with her. If he is to be in love with any one else ever again, it will be some one of Naida's type—the alluring, rather cynical, wholly self-controlled type—not the frank sort of girl who is a—what's the silly word?—a pal and almost a brother to a man. Not the sort of girl who—forgive me!—runs after a man on flat heels and scorns all the little aids, the coquetries, the—well, the secondary sex characteristics, so to speak."

Julie said nothing.

WHAT'S WRONG WITH American Husbands?

Their Chief Fault, Says I. A. R. Wylie, Is That They Are So Absorbed in Making Money That They Have No Time to Be Interesting.

THE tricks of holding a husband no longer seem so intriguing to the modern wife. Divorce records show that the sex which has long been given pointers on the subject is now the first to walk out on matrimony. The man who, therefore, enters marriage with the idea that the nuptial tie makes his wife a permanent fixture in his life and needs no further wooing is very likely to find himself paying alimony.

With women becoming economically independent, it is only natural, in the opinion of Miss I. A. R. Wylie, that the relationship between the sexes should change and women should relax in their efforts to hold a husband. If anything, it is beginning to be obvious that it is the men who need to learn a trick or two about holding a wife.

MISS WYLIE is an English novelist and short-story writer who for the last few years has spent most of her time in the United States. She has traveled extensively through the country and has written many articles on American life which show how close to its thought she is. She has particular admiration for the accomplishments of American women, but as for the men, she feels they leave something to be desired.

"It seems to me," Miss Wylie said, when seen at her comfortable workshop in New York, "that future marital happiness will depend a great deal on the effort that the man will make to keep his wife.

"When a woman was a financial liability to her family and had to marry the first man who offered to support her, she could not afford to be discriminating about his personal merits and attractions. Indeed, it was not unusual for a fine girl to marry a drunkard or a rake rather than to remain dependent upon her family. She felt there was always the possibility of being able to reform him.

"But since men have ceased to be a means to a much-desired end, women look at them less covetously and more critically. Their standards of a husband have become much higher. The modern woman will only wed the man for whom she has sincere admiration and affection and who can offer her satisfactory companionship. If he does not measure up to her expectations, she has no vital reason for enduring the relationship. Marriage has become very much like a business partnership—and the partner has to stand scrutiny.

"The woman has not only broken away from the traditional subjection to men and invaded his sphere, but she also has bettered herself in many other ways. She leaves no stone unturned to increase her mental and physical charms. She diets and exercises and religiously visits the beauty specialists so that she can keep slim, youthful and attractive. She has innumerable interests and cultural pursuits to assuage an ever-growing mental hunger. Even if she is a business woman, she does not let her work absorb her to the exclusion of everything else. She is a well-informed person who knows about the things of the day.

"The average man, however, has no interest in anything which does not give him material profit. He does not spend any time on the problem of making himself attractive to an intelligent, cultured woman. He is indifferent to his personal appearance, so that by the time he reaches middle age he has lost his figure and looks old. It is not surprising, therefore, to find women regarding him as dull and commonplace.

"One of the things that impress the visitor to the United States is that the American man and woman are so entirely different from each other. It is almost as if they were of two different races. The men are heavy, slow in movement and in speech and prematurely old. The women are slender, vivacious and youthful, and talk very quickly. They are good conversationalists and speakers, while the men are poor ones.

"The odd part of it is that the man believes it is woman's duty to entertain him. He doesn't feel he is at all obligated to be interesting. A woman told me that she is tired of going to parties and dinners because the men always expected her to amuse them. And a friend of mine startled her dinner partner, who was mutely waiting for her to draw him out, by saying: 'Well, when are you going to entertain me?'"

MISS WYLIE feels that many of the rifts that lead to divorce arise from the fact that women are disappointed with their husbands. They are not in harmony with them because of their different outlook upon life.

"Few men, as yet, seem to have any comprehension of the situation. They do not see what a premium women place on the right kind of companionship. It does not occur to them that because women can give them more today, more is demanded of them. Their attitude toward marriage is virtually the same as it was in the days when woman's whole world revolved about them.

"I think the reason for this is the vanity of the male," smiled the author. "It is perfectly extraordinary how very well the average man thinks of himself. He is so convinced of his superior qualities that he sees no reason for changing himself. No matter how old he gets to be or how many mistakes he makes, his vanity never seems to diminish.

"Not only does it bring him grief in marriage, but in business as well. There isn't any kind of job or business transaction that the man thinks he cannot tackle. He may know very little about it, but he will always make a bluff at it. Of course, a certain amount of vanity is commendable because it gives one confidence. But the person who has too much vanity is likely to undertake work far beyond his abilities so that he either falls into bankruptcy or makes himself old before his time by the strenuous effort he has to exert in order to keep his place.

"It would be a splendid thing if women possessed some vanity about their ability to achieve. The lack of it handicaps them to a large extent in business. They rarely have the confidence that they can handle a bigger and more important job."

According to Miss Wylie, the only way men can regain the position they once occupied in their relation with women is for them to face their shortcomings and to raise themselves to a higher cultural level.

"The trouble is," she said, "that if the man has made a fair success of himself in business, he takes it for granted that he does not need enlightenment on anything. But one may have great ability to make money and yet be a perfect moron in every other phase of life.

"THE American husband doesn't mind sending his wife abroad to pick up whatever culture she can. He likes her to take a holiday from the family and enjoy herself. But the man should occasionally do the same thing himself. As it is, each grows isolated from the other, with the result that the relationship becomes sterile in every respect.

"I cannot see that on the whole the American men, with all their concentration on business and exaltation of the little god Success, are any better off than the European. Conditions in the United States have been better for making money, but judging from the amount of work and effort that has been put into business, the net gain has been little.

"A man devotes his life to business, and suddenly the market turns or economic depression sets in and everything he has is wiped away. He might just as well have given less time to business and enjoyed life more. He might have devoted some time to the things which are of vital interest to his wife and which would have made him a more satisfactory companion. Furthermore, if he had taken his mind off business, his vision might have been clearer and he would have made fewer mistakes. He might have also seen that the speculative mania would sooner or later bring drastic results.

"There is little doubt that in America business has been emphasized out of all proportion. It should be the means to an end—the enjoyment of life. It should not make slaves of men and destroy all human values. The European man feels it is crass stupidity to work so hard that he cannot have time for other things.

"Men are profiting more from marriage today than they ever did before. And in their hearts they know it. I am sure they would resent it enormously if woman went back to the foolish type that she was 40 years ago. They would resent the old traditions that surrounded marriage. True, they cannot enjoy the privilege of playing gods to their women-folk, but they can disport themselves more freely in other ways.

"Why shouldn't it behoove them, therefore, to learn a few things about the art of keeping a wife?"

MISS I. A. R. WYLIE.

If you ask my Opinion

by Martha Carr

Letters intended for this column must be addressed to Martha Carr at the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Mrs. Carr will answer all questions of general interest but, of course, cannot give advice on matters of a purely legal or medical nature. Those who do not care to have their letters published may enclose an addressed and stamped envelope for a personal reply.

DEAR MRS. CARR: Will you please tell me the following:

1. What to wear on an all expense tour to the Great Lakes this summer?

2. Is it necessary for a girl to tip on the train, at hotels, etc., and how much on this tour?

MARIE ANNE.

Your train clothes would be the same as you would wear on the street in town. But always go prepared with an extra little crepe frock (printed, perhaps, so as not to show dirt) and dark enough not to have to wear much under it. This same dress may be worn with a lightweight cloth coat to match. Or you can wear a suit and carry the dress along. You must also take with you a heavy warm coat. On the steamer a knitted sports dress, a silk sports dress (accessories, shoes, knitted cap or hat would do for both if you were careful about colors) and both the light and heavy coat in case of a "squall." One semi-evening frock—either lace or chiffon will not muss or will shake out easily.

The tipping custom is very general and you will have more comfort if you do a reasonable amount. About 10 per cent to waiters. For porters, cabin stewards and maids, you can be governed by the service they have rendered. Ten cents for each package carried, for ice-water, for a message, for a shine. Fifty cents to the porter who brings up your trunk, a dollar each to the cabin steward and maid on the boat if you are on more than two nights or fifty cents if you you are not.

but how are they made?... where?... by whom? You have a right to know.

WHEN a substitute claims to be "just like Kotex," ask where it is made. How. By whom.

You will find the claim "like Kotex" usually means the pad merely looks like Kotex. That's not enough, when health is involved, as it is in your choice of sanitary protection. Demand the hygiene of Kotex. The absolute purity of Kotex.

There's one way to be sure. Get genuine Kotex ... accept no substitute of whose makers you know nothing. Kotex is the world's standard. Hospitals used over ten million pads last year. It is made with hospital care and cleanliness.

Kotex stays soft for hours. Shaped to fit. Adjustable. May be worn on either side with safety.

Kellogg's
RICE KRISPIES

COUNTLESS children are now disappointed if their cereal doesn't pop and snap in milk or cream. And that's why many mothers always get genuine Kellogg's Rice Krispies — the cereal that actually crackles.

Nourishing, toasted rice grains. That's Rice Krispies. Crunchy crisp. Crammed with the flavor of rich, fluffy rice.

Serve for breakfast. Add fruits or honey for lunch. Great for nursery suppers — or to accompany the afternoon glass of milk. Just the treat for a late bedtime snack. Healthful and easy to digest.

Use Rice Krispies in cookery too. Make crisp macaroons, candies. Butter and serve like pop corn. Use for ice-cream sundaes.

Order the red-and-green package from your grocer. Served by hotels. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Cleaner Purses

There is no more excuse for soiled leather handbags and purses than for soiled gloves, because a soft cloth wet with a good cleaning fluid will clean them beautifully. Many women use the cleaner they bought for light shoes on their leather bags with great success.

Better Wear

When relining a beaded bag, make the lining a little bit shorter than the bag itself and the weight will rest on it instead of the beads. A new lining is much cheaper than a new beaded section.

The First Cup

If your child has no silver cup for his first attempt at drinking, buy an earthenware cup for him. They can be purchased in attractive designs, are durable and easily washed.

Feather Pillows

When refilling a feather pillow, crush a small block of camphor and mix in with the feathers. It will help to preserve the feathers and keep the pillow from having any musty odor for a long time.

THE SAILOR'S NECKERCHIEF. IN EARLY SEA FIGHTS SAILORS STRIPPED TO THEIR WAISTS AND TO PREVENT PERSPIRATION FROM RUNNING INTO THEIR EYES, TIED HANDKERCHIEFS AROUND THEIR HEADS. WHEN NOT FIGHTING, THE HANDKERCHIEFS WERE WORN AROUND THEIR NECKS. SAILORS STILL USE THEM.

"BLACK JACK" PERSHING. ONE OF GENERAL PERSHING'S FIRST ARMY ASSIGNMENTS WAS IN A COLORED REGIMENT. HIS COMRADES WHO HAD CALLED HIM JACK PREFIXED THE WORD "BLACK."

DUNCE. JOANNES DUNS SCOTUS WAS A LEARNED THEOLOGIAN WHO LIVED IN THE THIRTEENTH CENTURY. THOSE WHO HELD VIEWS THAT DISAGREED WITH HIS, SATIRICALLY APPLIED THE WORD DUNSMAN TO HIS FOLLOWERS. LATER THE WORD WAS CORRUPTED TO "DUNCE" AND APPLIED TO STUPID PEOPLE.

Where did the expression "poor as Job's turkey" come from? Where did witch hazel get its name. Answers tomorrow.

Great excitement! A whistle's blast is a signal for anchors aweigh! Serpentine streamers, hundreds of them, fill the air. Chains clank, hawsers groan, commands are shouted and the liner pulls away—bound for Hawaii—with Ella aboard.
GOLLY, I'M JUST ABOUT WORN OUT! IT'LL TAKE ME DAYS TO CATCH UP IN MY SLEEP AFTER ALL THE EXCITEMENT OF THE PAST FEW DAYS!
SAY, I HAVE A REQUEST FOR YOU TO PLAY ON THAT WOODEN TORTURE CHAMBER! WOULD YOU MIND PLAYING HOOKEY? THOSE THINGS SOUND LIKE FOURTEEN HARPS AND A CANNON!
I WISH ANVILS SOUNDED THAT WAY INSTEAD OF UKULELES, BECAUSE VERY FEW PEOPLE CAN CARRY AROUND AN ANVIL!
If Ella could but know what her trip is getting her into, she'd turn the boat around and head for shore!
